Man facing seven charges in theft wake

A 19-year old Haliburton man faces seven charges following the theft of a car from Curry Motors in Haliburton early Saturday morning.

Christopher Charles Roberts has been charged with two counts of break, enter and theft, theft over $200, possession of a restricted drug for the purpose of trafficking, possession of narcotics for the purpose of trafficking, breach of probation and breach of recognizance.

The series of events leading to the charges began at approximately 1 a.m. Saturday, when a window was broken at Curry Motors and 18 sets of car keys stolen. A 1977 Corvette without licence plates, was then driven away. The car was valued at $15,600.

Minutes later the gasoline service shed at Haliburton Marine was broken into, and the gasoline pumps were turned on. Stolen was $12 worth of fuel.

Christopher Charles Roberts was apprehended by Midland OPP at approximately 11 a.m. Saturday, and the vehicle was recovered.

He was charged with two counts of break, enter and theft, and with theft over $200.

Midland OPP laid additional charges of possession of a restricted drug for the purpose of trafficking and possession of narcotics for the purpose of trafficking after 32 doses of LSD and 23 grams of hashish were seized.

Minden OPP subsequently laid additional charges of breach of probation set at a February 13 court appearance and breach of recognizance as a result of Robert's release of August 7 to appear in court at a later date.

Roberts is being held in Lindsay jail, and was scheduled to appear in provincial court in Minden, Tuesday, October 9.

Warrant issued for Minden man

A Minden area man who was charged with break, enter and theft and possession of stolen property and released pending an October 9 court date.

These three young men found themselves in a completely different world from the one in which they were most familiar when they arrived in Haliburton Village last weekend. From left to right are Kingk Trinh, 15, Tung Trinh, 20, and Trung Trinh, 21. The immigrants, from Vietnam, are staying at Len Creelman's home in Haliburton.

Complainant must appear in court to prove sound was disturbing

Stanhope okays noise by-law

Ratepayers in Stanhope Township now have some legal protection against excessive noise.

At a meeting last Wednesday, council passed an anti-noise by-law that gives township residents the right to lay complaints against individuals responsible for excessive levels of noise. But the by-law puts the onus for proof of disturbance on the complainant, and does not provide for mechanical verification of noise levels.

Council has debated the need for a noise by-law for several months, following repeated complaints about noise from a ratepayer.

The provincial government has drafted a model noise by-law for municipalities which has been adopted in many areas across the province, including Anson, Hinton and Minden. Stanhope council decided not to adopt a form of the model noise by-law however, feeling it might be overly restrictive and costly to enforce.

Instead, Stanhope opted for a simple by-law which enforcement officer James Moore said had been recommended by Minden justice of the peace, Dean Elliot.

The by-law, passed under authority of Section 354, subsection 118 of The Municipal Act, prohibits "the ringing of bells, the blowing of horns, shouting and unusual noises, or noises likely to disturb the inhabitants" of the township.

Moore said ratepayers laying complaints under the by-law would have to appear in court along with the defendant, and would have to prove the level and element of disturbance to the court's satisfaction before a fine would be assessed under the by-law.

Councillor Roger Woods said he felt the by-law would be adequate for the township's needs, and cheaper than a more complex by-law. "It's giving us a start," he said, "and we don't have to get into the expensive equipment."

Moore agreed, and said he didn't think complaints under the by-law would be common. He said only two ratepayers had complained to him about noise problems this year, one relating to barking dogs and the other resulting from a loud party.

Council was unanimous in approving the by-law.

Snag in way of Stanhope bid to use bridge

A bridge at Buttermilk Falls in Stanhope Township will remain closed to vehicular traffic, including the township's fire tanker truck for at least the immediate future, council has learned.

The bridge, a one-lane structure spanning the stream at the brink of the falls, was closed earlier this year by the Ministry of Transportation and Communications when it was found to be unsafe. But the Stanhope fire department has long used the bridge in winter months to fill the tanker truck because the water below remains open year round, and the department wants to continue doing so.

At a meeting last month, council decided to write to the MTC asking if the bridge could be conveyed to the municipality, or at least left open for the exclusive use of the tanker truck. The MTC was also asked to supply engineering reports so council could determine the cost of repairing the bridge for that use, if necessary.

Last Wednesday, however, council learned that the MTC no longer has control of the bridge. It now falls under the jurisdiction of the Trent-Severn Waterway System, which is administered by the federal department of Indian and Northern Affairs.

Council now must take its request to that branch of the government in hopes of obtaining permission to use the bridge.

A reply from Trent-Severn officials is expected for council's next regular meeting.

Learning English will be the first challenge

Vietnamese refugees beginning new life here

Three Indo-Chinese refugees, sponsored by the Anglican Church of Haliburton, arrived in the village late last weekend.

The surprise arrival came about after Employment and Immigration Canada informed Len Creelman, a member of the local refugee information committee, on Tuesday, that three brothers from Vietnam would be arriving at Toronto International Airport on Friday night, and could be picked up at that time. The Anglican Church had applied to sponsor one Vietnamese family and three single people.

The brothers, according to Creelman, are originally from a small village south of Saigon. The oldest brother, Trung Trinh, is 21 years old, and is an apprentice tailor, and his brother, Tung, 20, worked as an apprentice lathe operator. The youngest, Kingk, is 15 and was a student in Vietnam. None of the men can speak English.

Because they could not find work or schooling, the men "left at the insistence of their parents" during May according to Creelman, who learned of the details of the Trinh's through an interpreter from Operation Lifeline in Toronto.

"There was just no future for them, so their parents insisted they go," Creelman said. Another older brother had left for the United States when the war ended. The group "bought their way onto a boat," said Creelman, and spent five days at sea before they landed at Malaysia, where they were inducted into a refugee camp. They appealed to the Canadian immigration authorities there, and were accepted to come to Canada.

Before the boys reunite with their parents and brother, Creelman explained, they will "get integrated" into the Canadian way of life. "They want to get some more schooling if possible and continue on in their trade," he said. The men are presently living with the Creelman family.

The main concern now, he added, is to teach the immigrants English. Creelman said "we're not yet sure" when they could go to school, but the problem of language "is first priority". He added that the refugee committee is "not too concerned" about finding the men jobs yet, since there are very few jobs that do not require English. "There is really very little expense in maintaining them. They're staying with a family so the cost is very low."

The main language skills, said Creelman, will likely be learned from the community itself. "I expect some sort of tutoring from other families in the church, or perhaps a teacher from the school board."

The three immigrants will remain with Creelman's family "for at least a couple of weeks". The men want to become accustomed with one family before they are shifted around, said Creelman, "so they feel a little more secure."

The interpreter who talked to the men last Monday, Dr. Joseph Wong, is preparing a "learning package" for the committee which will include phraseology books and tapes, designed for learning English. Creelman said "this will all be sorted out when the next family comes so it will be a lot easier." Creelman said there has been no word concerning a family the Anglican Church is sponsoring.

Don Nicholson, United Church minister, said their sponsor group also has yet to hear any word concerning the two families they have applied to sponsor.

"It's a very rapid process," Creelman said. "Obviously immigration is really swamped with trying to handle it all."

Stanhope agrees to subsidize meals at Warden's banquet

Stanhope Township ratepayers will subsidize the cost of meals at the county warden's banquet to the tune of $500.

At a meeting last Wednesday, Stanhope council agreed to provide up to that amount from township coffers to help meet the cost of dinner at the banquet, hosted by the township's reeve and county warden, Jim Harrison.

The banquet is held annually to mark the end of the warden's one year term in office. County coffers provide approximately $1100 for the event, and any additional costs must be met by the warden. Costs of the banquet, including invitations, hall rental, meals, entertainment and liquor can reach $2000 or more.

Haliburton County warden receive an honourarium of $600 in consideration of the functions they must attend by virtue of the office, as well as the normal county council pay scale of $55 per council meeting and $30 per committee meeting.

This year's banquet, slated for October 20, will be held in the Stanhope Firefighters Hall.

Council directed that the invoice from the United Church Women, who are catering to the event, should be forwarded to the municipal office for payment up to a maximum of $500.

Students at Gooderham school got a head start on Thanksgiving last Friday with the help of a turkey dinner and all the trimmings. It is the third year the students have enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner in the classroom. The youngsters helped prepare the vegetables, mothers cooked the turkeys and brought them to the school right from the oven, and the whole exercise went off as smooth as clockwork. The unanimous verdict? Delicious.

Bee keeping: art, science - and love

"There's a million things to learn about bee keeping," Frank Dewey says

by Len Pizzey

The thought of being stung by a bee makes most people cringe, but not Frank Dewey. He's been stung more times than you could count, so many times in fact that he can't feel a sting anymore. And he has a theory about that. He says humans have a poison in their system that makes bee stings swell up and smart, and that if you get stung enough times, the serum in the sting will counteract the poison. When all the poison is gone, there's no more pain from stings. In fact, Frank Dewey thinks bee stings have a certain therapeutic value. Medical science might be skeptical, but he's convinced bee stings are good for rheumatism.

He knows from first hand experience. As a young man of 20, he was almost crippled with the disease. But then he took up bee keeping. Like all bee keepers he was stung, hundreds, thousands of times, and gradually the rheumatism disappeared. Today, Frank Dewey is 72, free of rheumatism and living proof that if bee stings aren't a cure for aches

First snow gives Highlands a taste of winter

Even though the first day of winter isn't scheduled to arrive until December 22, county residents had a sneak preview last Tuesday morning of what we can expect.

Streets and highways were covered with three to four inches of wet snow throughout the county, causing problems for some early-morning motorists who did not have the benefit of snow-tire. Road crews in Haliburton were clearing shoulders on some streets in the village with graders, though no heavy snow ploughing or sanding equipment was used.

Absence figures were high at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Tuesday morning, as buses were either cancelled or delayed. Melting snow made conditions slushy and slippery for pedestrians in both Haliburton and Minden, as people returned to work after the Thanksgiving weekend.

Last year, Haliburton County received its first major snowfall in mid-November. But those who are optimistic for the remainder of this week take warning; the weatherman is calling for isolated flurries for the next few days.

Vanderstarren (first place). In the front row, from Cub pack 'B' are Corey Little (third place), Danny Conaughan (second place), Robert Thibadeau (first place). At the end, in 'A' pack are Edward Sawyer (second place), Darren Whittaker (third place), Jeff Popple (first place).

Cardiff council holds regular meeting

At a meeting of Cardiff council September 6, the following matters were discussed:

Council decided it is not in favour of issuing a building permit re: M. Zorzi, Lot 4, Plan 497, Paudash Lake, for a sundeck over existing docking facility as the proposed plans appear to contravene Section 3.23 of By-law No. 9-79. The plans appear to exceed the height restriction in this section of By-law No. 9-79.

The matter on the agenda regarding Lot 17, Concession 10, Township of Cardiff was postponed until the next regular meeting of council.

The road superintendent was ordered to order 60 tons of road salt.

Council accepted a proposal from the Ministry of Natural Resources, for the construction of an access road on the road allowance between Lots 15, Concession 18 and Concession 19 as per letter dated September 6, 1979, provided that the municipality will not be expected to assume any road maintenance in the future.

Council stated that it does not intend to erect a "No Exit" sign at the junction of Lewis Dr. and Dyno Road, and denied permission for the Paudash Shores Cottagers' Association to erect a sign, due to the fact that Lewis Dr. is an open public road.

Council noted it does not intend to assume that part of a private road at Colborne Creek as indicated in letter dated August 22, 1979, signed Mr. and Mrs. Zorzi.

The clerk was authorized to contact the township solicitor and instruct him to prepare an Agreement of Purchase and Sale for property outlined in Lot 7, Concession 14, dated June 1, 1979, by M. J. McAlpine Ltd., with the purchase price to be offered of $100.

Council decided it has no objection to a water pipeline easement across the 40 foot township road allowance in part Lot 25, Concession 5 as shown on an unregistered survey plan by M. J. McAlpine dated August 9, 1979, the easement is shown as Part 2 on said plan. Further, the municipality will not be held responsible for any damage to pipelines due to road maintenance or construction. All pipelines will be constructed at a depth of six feet or more, and the municipality will not be responsible for any freezing of pipelines due to travel of said road.

The clerk was authorized to pay a claim by Mr. Maurice Bradley, under The Livestock and Poultry Protection Act, in the amount of $822.

The by-law enforcement officer was authorized to recover in court if necessary, the amount paid to Maurice Bradley being $822 plus any additional costs, from the owner of the dog liable for the destruction of the poultry, and summon any witnesses that he deems necessary to determine the details of the matter.

Council confirmed the permitted uses within the Commercial Tourist Camping Park Zone as per the original

By-law No. 9-79.

Council stated that it intends to amend By-law No. 9-79 with respect to Assessment No. 05020000600 as follows: "zoning will be changed from Rural to Residential".

The clerk and the by-law enforcement officer were authorized to attend a Judicial Systems Seminar, sponsored by the county on a cost sharing basis by participating municipalities.

The following accounts were authorized for payment: General Voucher No. 79-8, $4,290.42, Road Voucher No. 79-8, $14,274.42.

Stanhope will ask county to close Hawk Lake Road

Stanhope council has decided that the Hawk Lake Road from Highway 35 to the Cade Road should be closed to through traffic, and will ask Haliburton County Council to proceed with the closure.

A new road providing access to Halls Lake cottagers was constructed by county crews this summer.

At the moment, residents of the area can use both roads. Closing the old road would leave a single access to Highway 35 and would remove heavy traffic from the road skirting the lakeshore.

The closure by-law will be advertised and ratepayers will have an opportunity to lodge objections.

Council also decided to ask the county to establish a turn-around area for snow plow equipment near the old exit to Highway 35 if the road is closed.

Once closure is completed council will assume the road into the township's municipal road system.

Stanhope council balks at cost of moving old council chamber

The old Stanhope council chambers, located on part Lot 16, Concession 3, which council had hoped could be moved to a location near the tennis courts and fire fighters hall, may remain where they are because the cost of moving them could be prohibitive.

At a meeting last Wednesday, council learned that moving the wood frame building, which was the township's first council meeting place, would cost at least $1200. That was the amount stated in a tender from William Simmerson, the only person to reply to council's request for tenders on the proposed move. The amount is for preparation and transportation only, and does not include the cost of moving wires to allow the two-storey building to be transported along a township road.

Additional costs would come for the installation of a perimeter wall on which the building could rest, as well as electrical hookups.

Original intention was to use the building as a meeting place and storage area for the township's recreation committee. But Alex Stephenson, a member of the committee who was on hand last Wednesday when the tender from Simmerson was opened, said he could not agree with spending township revenue on the move.

"Unless there are funds coming from somewhere else," Stephenson said, "I would object to ratepayers' money being spent in this way."

Council agreed with the point, and will obtain a complete cost breakdown for the move before deciding whether or not to proceed with it.

The recreation committee will be asked to provide the breakdown, including the cost of a perimeter wall and all electrical and other work involved in relocating the structure.

Pickup trucks collide

Two Haliburton area men escaped injury Sunday when the vehicles they were driving collided on a curve in Haliburton Village.

Brent E. Titus, 19 of RR 1, Haliburton, was southbound on Mountain Street and Brian G. Cowen, 32 of Haliburton, was northbound when the pickup trucks they were driving collided.

16 court appearance will face additional charges following a second break, enter and theft incident if and when he is found.

Police say a warrant has been issued for the arrest of David Joseph Asselin, 22, of RR 1, Minden.

Asselin was charged following a break-in at Tallpines-Browndale School in the Carnarvon area October 1 - 2. In that incident, entry to the building was gained by breaking a window and property valued at $175 was stolen. Taken in the theft were two cassette recorders, a speaker and a carrying case, all belonging to the Haliburton County School Board.

Asselin was apprehended and charged with break, enter and theft and possession of stolen property, and was released pending a scheduled October 16 court appearance.

Asselin has also been charged following a break-in at Austins Esso in Minden that occurred on the night of October 3 - 4. A window was broken and cash and tires valued at $582 were stolen. Damage to the window was estimated at $150.

Police say a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Charges are also pending following a theft from Frontier Motors that took place on the night of October 3 - 4. Stolen was a 1975 International pickup truck.

'I was always interested in bees'

and pains, working with the insects can at least help keep you active and interested in the world of nature.

Behind his house in Gooderham, he keeps 40 colonies of bees, and if all goes well, they'll produce more than two tons of honey this year. At 72, most people would not doubt be content with that, even after 35 or 40 years of keeping bees, but Frank Dewey is different. At an age when most people would be happy to take things easy, he is looking forward to expanding his colonies nearly fourfold. It will take a few more years, but he's aiming toward splitting the colonies again and again until he has 150 producing hives.

To understand why, you must first understand that for Frank Dewey, bee keeping is not work, and not something you do for monetary gain. There's work involved of course, and there's money to be made from the sale of honey, but that's not the important thing, as far as he's concerned. The important thing is just to be around the bees, to work with them, to watch them create honey and to help them do so more efficiently.

"It's not to make money out of them," he says. "It's what I like to do. Oh, yes, we make money out of them, but it's not that. It's to do the thing I want to do."

Frank Dewey just plain likes bees. "I was always interested in bees," he says. "I wasn't afraid of them. I liked the way they put things together."

The first things he learned about bees were passed on to him by a government inspector from Cameron.

"Cliff Dennis was the man that first gave me an understanding about bees." Now, after close to 40 years of working with them, the Gooderham bee keeper is prepared to admit that he has a good idea of what the insects need and how to get the most out of them.

"I think I understand them pretty well now," he says.

'A flower is a funny thing'

On the surface of course, bee keeping may not seem all that difficult. The bees do all the productive work, they come and go as they please, flowers provide the raw material. All the keeper has to do is to open up the hive once a year, extract the honey from the combs, put the racks on which the combs are built up back into the colony, and the bees start the process all over again. Simple. Except that scores of things can go wrong and that bees can be temperamental in the extreme. One of nature's most productive creatures, they are also one of nature's oddest, and it takes an expert eye and a confident hand to keep things running smoothly.

"There's a million things to learn about bee keeping," Frank Dewey says, "and maybe some". He claims he could talk about the art of it for two solid weeks and never say the same thing twice. And he probably could.

The most vital thing is to keep the bees happy. They're creatures of instinct and the dynamics of the colony are such that everything has to be just right. The racks have to be clean and spaced just the right distance apart, the bees have to be able to come and go freely, they have to be kept warm and fed in the winter months, you have to watch them carefully for disease, and above all, you have to have a queen bee that lays good, strong eggs.

The queen will begin laying in about the middle of January, and will continue to do so right through the summer. Drone bees care for the queen and feed the young bees, while the worker bees head out into the countryside to find flowers from which they extract the raw material for food.

"A flower is a funny thing," Frank Dewey says. "A bee can make anything he wants out of it." Just as a baker can make a host of things out of flour, he says, a bee can make, 'lava', which is used for feeding young bees, 'bee bread', a hard dry substance that can be stored to provide winter food, and of course, honey.

The life of a queen bee is about four years. After that, even if she is still capable of laying, she will have begun to slow down, and the keeper will "requeen". Left on their own, the colony would select a baby bee and groom it to become a queen for the hive if the former queen dies, but a keeper can't wait for the bees to do the work, so he buys a tested queen and puts her into the hive. Suppliers in Brantford and Elora provide the queens, as well as stocks of bees for people who want to get started in the business, and other materials essential to the process.

The keeper must always keep a close watch on the colonies.

"Once it comes a certain time of year, you just watch them. If you see a bunch of bees buzzing around in front of the hive, not going out, you go in and find out what's wrong. You smoke them and open up the hive."

It takes a measure of courage to open up a hive filled with thousands of bees, but bee keepers like Frank Dewey take it in their stride.

"I don't care how angry they are, I'll go in there and tackle them. And once you get their troubles solved, they aren't going to be angry."

'I don't care how angry they are. I'll go in and tackle them'

Once inside, a keeper who knows the business can see what's wrong. The queen may be laying weak eggs. She may be producing too many drones and not enough worker bees. Or the hive may just be overcrowded.

When the troubles are straightened out, a new queen placed in the hive if need be, work goes on once again, and the bees continue to produce honey.

"The less you bother them," he says, "the more honey you're going to get, and the better it will be."

By September, the combs the bees have built up on the racks are filled with honey, and the extraction process begins. It's a simple one that relies primarily on hand work. First the keeper smokes the bees to make them docile, then opens up the hive. The racks, laden with honey, are taken into a processing room where both honey and wax are removed and placed in a heated vat. The wax rises to the surface and is scraped off, leaving behind pure honey. In a good year, each of Frank Dewey's 40 colonies will produce between 115 and 120 pounds of the liquid. All that remains to be done is to put it in cans or bottles, ready for the market.

Most of the honey Frank Dewey produces is sold locally, or to tourists who know about his hives. The same buyers come back year after year and more than one family has been known to drive away from Gooderham with all of the production from a colony, 120 pounds of honey.

'Compasses better than a pilot'

When the racks are clean they are put back in the wooden boxes stacked as many as five high that form the colonies, and the whole process of honey production can begin again. In fall the keeper will place special feeding racks on the hives, and will begin feeding the bees a concoction of sugar syrup and other special bee foods to replace the honey that would have lasted the hive through the winter. With proper feeding, the bees "will come through the winter fine on that," Frank Dewey says.

The only other major task a bee keeper faces is to "pack" the bees for the winter. Heavy wrapping paper goes around the colonies, and pine shavings are piled on top. Then the whole assembly is tied with string to leave only a small breathing space on the top of the shavings, which are a foot or two thick. The pine shavings hold the heat within the hive and allow dampness to dissipate, keeping the bees from freezing. When it's done right, "they'll come through dandy," he says.

At the moment, Frank Dewey is the largest bee keeper in the area, and he may well be the only person who is producing honey on a commercial scale. But there is still plenty of demand for the product, and Dewey says he'd like to see more people take up the hobby. It has given and continues to give him a great deal of pleasure, and he thinks it would do the same for anyone who likes nature, who is patient, and who has a desire to see things done right. And, he says, he's willing to give anyone who wants to know more about bee keeping, a hand.

Out in the yard, Frank Dewey is watching the entrance of a colony. It is a busy place as bees leave and others return from the surrounding woodlands. In their searches for flowers, his bees might wander as far as five miles away, yet they always return to the same hive.

"They've got compasses better than any pilot," he says.

He has a trace of honey on his finger, and a bee buzzes near, trying to land. He holds out his hand. "Come on," he says. "Come and get it". The bee lands and crawls up his finger, its minuscule mouth parts working to get the last of the substance from its keeper's hand.

"Aren't they something!"

After nearly 40 years, he still loves his bees.

Records destroyed, breakdown a mystery

Fire phones in Stanhope Township went out of service for several hours June 8, and the reason will never be known, council has learned.

The breakdown, which began late in the afternoon that day, and affected all fire phones, was repaired by mid-day June 9.

Bell Canada officials, in a letter tabled at council's October 3 meeting, said service records are kept only two months, and that precise details about the service disruption are no longer available.

Problems with the telephone system in the Stanhope area were frequent in the early summer as new direct number identification equipment and more circuits were installed to service the area.

Reeve Jim Harrison noted that at one point during that period, "there were only one or two phones operating."

He said council should write a letter (to Bell saying) that due to inconvenience and problems that we had with the phones, there should be some adjustment on the bill."

Councillor Harry Davis agreed, noting that "it's pretty tough to go to their (Bell's) competitors."

Councillor Roger Wood maintained however that it could cost more to have the clerk write letters to Bell than would be saved in any adjustment to the bill.

Council took no action on the matter.

Stanhope buy signs

Stanhope Township council will purchase, erect and maintain speed limit signs for two of the township's waterways.

At a meeting last Wednesday, council voted to purchase six signs (valued at $49 each) to be erected on the Gull River between the township boundary and Maple Lake, and at the Ox Narrows bridge.

A speed limit of six miles per hour (10 kph.) has been set in both areas.

A chance to help, a chance to learn

Three Vietnamese brothers, refugees from the Communist regime of their homeland, arrived in Haliburton over the weekend under the sponsorship of the Anglican Church. The three are the first of several family groups and individuals who are expected to take up residence in the area as a result of local response to the plight of the "boat people" of Southeast Asia. Their arrival came as somewhat of a surprise to the sponsoring group, who had thought that the wait for refugee families would be a lengthy one.

As the first of what is expected to be a number of families to reach this area, the three brothers will face difficulties later groups may not face. In an important way, the arrival of the brothers represents an experiment in understanding that will test the strengths and spiritual resources of area citizens. Their arrival should be greeted with expectation, interest and commitment on the part of the whole community. Bringing them here took the belief and dedication of a large number of people. Making them welcome must be the responsibility of every person with whom they come in contact.

In one sense, the brothers will stand as a symbol of the fact that oppression of a kind unknown in Canada is common in other parts of the world. It is one thing to know that oppression exists. It is quite another to meet and strive to help the people who have suffered it. Canadians are acknowledging, through their support for the refugees, that the principles of freedom and opportunity we cherish are ideals whose value must be measured in actions. The people of Haliburton County have the means, the knowledge, and it is hoped, the generosity of spirit, to assimilate the refugees into the community in a way which will make both groups richer in friendship, understanding and experience.

In the course of the days, weeks and months to come, the brothers' presence here should add something to the community which was lacking before. They have suffered hardships to get here. They have left family, friends, and a familiar way of life in expectation of greater opportunity and freedom. And the sponsoring group has also faced hardships. It has been a struggle to raise the money and seek the support that has enabled the brothers to come to the Village of Haliburton. It will be a greater struggle to find jobs for them, to teach them the language, to lead them through the complexities of life in a country whose heritage and customs differ markedly from their own.

Yet no matter what differences there are between the newly arrived refugees and the people of Haliburton County, both are linked by a common bond, a bond of humanity that the sponsors have strengthened, the contributors have manifested, and that the community must express in the near future as the newcomers begin the long, difficult, but ultimately rewarding process of learning to live in Canada.

A change, but not for the worst

If old man winter didn't rear his ugly head Tuesday morning, he at least served notice that his arrival for a six month stay is not far off. The announcement, in the form of four inches of thick wet flakes, was greeted with groans of dismay and not a few shivers by all but the most die hard of winter sports enthusiasts.

Not long ago, slate grey skies and the bite of a north wind in October signalled the end of the tourist season and the beginning of a long and often painful slump in business that sent merchants and service industry people into every deepening gloom until the world came awake again the following May.

Today, the coming of winter heralds not the end of steady business but a change in the activities that bring visitors and cottagers into the Highlands. Winter lends charms to the landscape that are rapidly becoming recognized.

This year, if all goes as planned, the tourist season should last throughout the winter, and the economy will be better off for it. With luck perseverance, and a measured optimism, we'll no doubt survive the old man's stay. Even if that seemed hard to believe this Tuesday morning.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Reference to your paper's issue of the week of the 24th of September, 1979, with an article and editorial regarding approval by the County Council of the Planning Strategy.

This is quite untrue and indicates ignorance in regard to the facts.

To suggest that members of County Council were unaware of the content and implications of the document being approved, is a distortion of the facts; it is also a reflection on the secretary/treasurer and the staff of the Provisional County of Haliburton. The latter, both, did an immense amount of work to collate and produce copies of all relevant aspects of the Planning Strategy, which were distributed to all members of the council. Your article also reflects on the integrity of Mr. John McDermott, whose painstaking and extensive research and hard work, in the production of the detail for the documents in regard to the Planning Strategy, have not been appreciated.

The Planning Strategy is an extremely comprehensive guide for future planning in this county, flexibility being its main asset.

Municipalities will be able to make amendments as required, the only proviso being to notify the relevant authorities.

Sincerely,
Glynn Lewis,
Minden, Ontario

Editor's Notebook

by Len Pizzev

More than once, in the year and a half that I have held the editor's job at the Echo, I have had occasion and inclination to comment on the role of newspapers in the community, and on the importance of this newspaper in particular. In speeches to the Haliburton Rotary Club, the Glamorgan senior citizens, and in this column, I have tried to explain what we are, why we exist, and why we do some of the things we do, unpopular though those things sometimes prove to be.

This week, October 7 through October 13, is National Newspaper Week, and papers across the country will be speaking out about themselves. I had in mind to use this space to put down some of my own thoughts about newspapers, but thought better of it, fearing that readers may sometimes tire of the didacticism to which I occasionally fall prey. Instead, I'll give you someone else's thoughts about the role of a newspaper in a small, rural community. The words are not mine, but the viewpoint is one I share.

Johnny hit his first homer in Little League ball last week. Mary won the 4-H public speaking contest. Mrs. Smith won first prize at the bridge part on Wednesday. Mrs. Black marked her 90th birthday, there were special services in the Unitarian Church and the Whyte family entertained friends from the United States for a few days. There is only one source in any community where information about such events can be gleaned. It is from the weekly newspaper.

Few of the events listed here are of earth-shattering significance. Certainly they are not likely to merit the attention of the daily press or the electronic media, but to the people concerned, these day-to-day occurrences are at least as important as any international, national, or provincial event, from which they often feel a sense of isolation and detachment.

It is then, the local emphasis that gives the weekly newspaper in any community its greatest impact, for it speaks to the people about themselves, their neighbours, their community and its problems and their very existence.

In an area such as that served by The Leader, the weekly newspaper serves a number of highly relevant functions. It often can be seen as the social conscience of the community. It chastises, it commends, it informs. However, it does so in a local context, with which the reader can readily identify. Because of the essentially parochial nature of the publication, those who are singled out for commendation or criticism can hardly fail to be aware of the fact. It can, therefore, be an agent of change in the attitudes and behaviour of both individuals and community organizations.

It is an old, but true adage that the pen is mightier than the sword, and never was it more truly spoken than of the weekly newspaper. Where else are the trials and tribulations, the successes and failures, the hopes and frustrations of the population better portrayed? Through its columns, triumph and tragedy become community responsibilities to be savoured or shared by all.

Speaking to and for both the larger communities and the more isolated farm families, the weekly newspaper, more than any other agent, addresses itself to the complete spectrum of society. It attempts therefore, to offer within its pages something for everyone. One's social status matters little, for no one, from the lowliest to the lowliest is behind the omnipresent eye of the community press.

A significant aspect of the weekly newspaper is community involvement. Rarely can the rural paper afford the luxuries in staff, equipment, etc. that are the everyday lot of its city contemporary. The weekly relies to a considerable extent on its readers for news and often for pictures of local or historical interest.

It is through the judicious use of photographs that the weekly newspaper can achieve much of its local success. Pictures, like memories, are timeless. Immediacy is not so important, for long after the event a smile can be brought to one's heart by the recollection of a fleeting moment in time captured by the camera of an enthusiastic

Feir Play

by Creighton Feir

Well, it's that time of the year once again when we start to get interested in the World Series. People who don't watch very many ball games throughout the regular schedule and who may not have looked at the standings all year, all of a sudden become avid fans. For the real followers of the game, meaning those sports fans who can give you certain players' batting averages right off the top of their heads or tell you how many wins and losses a certain pitcher has up to this time, you can count on it that they follow the game very closely all summer long. The other fans who can take the game or leave it really don't get that interested until the chips are down at World Series time or at league play-off time. If you were like most Canadians, I am sure that you were rooting for the Montreal Expos to win their division title. I know that I seemed to take a great interest in the team and in the last couple of weeks when the team was coming down the stretch for a pennant my interest in the Expos and baseball grew every day. I found that I couldn't seem to get away from the television on those evenings when the Expos' games were on the tube. There I would be hanging in there on every pitch with a dream that the Montreal Expos would be in the World Series. We would like to congratulate the Expos who gave it a gallant try and went right to the final day of the schedule before being nosed out by the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Expos seemed to garner a great deal of support and a large following of fans with their come-from-behind wins which they seemed to be able to come up with game after game. They played better when they fell behind in many games. Game after game they had their backs to the wall but it would appear that they had a secret formula for winning these big games. Near the end, I firmly believe that the team just ran out of steam. They gave it all they had in every game but there came that time when the stress and strain of having to win, win, win, began to tell. It would take the most optimistic person in the world a long time to make us believe that before very long the World Series will be played in Toronto. Unless some miracle happens, it's a few days off yet. For the Montreal Expos it could happen in the very near future. After watching many of the Expos' games this summer, one thing about the team really seemed to stand out and this was the apparent lack of communication between both infielders and outfielders. On several occasions, accidents occurred or mistakes were made while trying to haul in fly balls. In one game, two of the Montreal players were knocked to the ground when they ran into each other trying to catch a fly ball. We noticed that some of these fly balls that dropped in for hits proved to be very costly.

The annual "Flowers of Hope" campaign, organized by the Haliburton District Association for the Mentally Retarded is well underway. By this time, everyone in Haliburton County should have received their yellow envelopes containing crocus bulbs. We hope that you will mail back your contribution as soon as possible. The objective of the association is to include provision of services, where it is feasible for the identified retarded persons in Haliburton County.

According to the Toronto Star, Chris Makepeace, the 15-year-old Jarvis Collegiate student in Toronto who made his movie debut in Meatballs, the motion picture that was filmed in Haliburton, is living out the fantasy of every stage-struck kid. He turned down Robert Redford, and he'll miss classes this term to star in a U.S. movie before teaming up with Lee Majors for a Canadian picture. Currently Chris is in Chicago filming "My Bodyguard". Director Tony Bill, who co-produced The Sting, saw Chris in the Canadian-made Meatballs and signed him to play a rich kid harassed by poorer kids at a public school. They try to extort money from him. In turn he hires a bodyguard. Chris' appearance in Meatballs has interested Walt Disney Studios which wants him for a movie.

Ice cream cones, sundaes and milkshakes are really popular with the visitors who come to the Highlands of Haliburton. When it comes to these delicious goodies, our visitors as well as local people flock to the Kawartha Dairy Bar on the Minden by-pass. We noticed while passing on Thanksgiving Day on Monday, everyone heading back home seemed to be stopping for something in the ice cream line before heading back on the highway for the remainder of their journey home. It's really a busy spot during the summer months and especially on holiday weekends.

While travelling around the Highlands of Haliburton this past couple of weeks, we have to agree with a great majority of the people whom we have been talking with when they tell us that the leaves had more colour this year than in the past couple of years.

The hockey teams who have been practicing at the Dysart Community Centre in Haliburton should have the jump on many of the other clubs who will be visiting us this coming hockey season. For the first time, the ice was not taken out of the arena following the summer hockey school. By the time the regular schedule starts, most of the hockey players, no matter what age, should be in great condition. It is certainly wonderful when one thinks of the advantages we have with artificial ice.

Former Toronto Blue Jay Doug Rader has been named manager of the Hawaii Islanders of the Pacific Coast League. During the 1977-78 baseball season he brought his wife and family to the PineStone Inn and Country Club for a short vacation during the all-star break. Rader, 35, played in the National League for 11 seasons with Houston Astros. San Diego Padres got him in a trade in 1975 and he was sold to the Blue Jays in June, 1977, where he finished the season.

It would appear that this past Thanksgiving weekend was one of the busiest holidays we have seen here for some time. People from other centres in Ontario seemed to visit Haliburton County in large numbers. It seemed to be even busier than some of the holiday weekends during the summer months.

Pic of the Past

Our thanks to Robert Bishop Sr. of Haliburton for submitting this photo showing the congregation at the Haliburton United Church at the farewell service for Rev. Gordon C. Smyth and Mrs. Smyth in September, 1949. A major venture during Rev. Smyth's ministry in Haliburton was the application of the Parable of the Talents in order to raise funds to renovate the village church. The venture was launched in the light of nation-wide publicity. It was a tribute to human nature that less than $25.00 evaporated, however, the original sum was more than tripled. A chance was added and the sanctuary as a whole beautified.

Report from Queen's Park

by MPP John Eakins

This week I would like to continue my discussion on the cost of energy in Ontario.

According to the provincial government's own estimates, a $2 increase in the well-head price of oil would mean increased revenues of $1.96 billion per year to the producing provinces, the oil and gas industry and the federal government, in the proportions of $880 million, $840 million and $240 million, respectively. If even $2 of the revenue from a price increase is divided in the same way, we would still be faced with increased oil prices of $4 to $5 a barrel.

We, in the Liberal Party, believe there is a way to keep one price for oil throughout Canada without wrecking Ontario's economy. The solution lies in raising the price in such a way that we do not have to give additional revenue to the oil companies or the producing provinces.

Each time oil prices rise, the bulk of the money paid by consumers goes to the producing provinces and the petroleum industry: only about a fifth of the revenue goes to the federal government, which can use it to subsidize oil prices in Eastern Canada. A $4 to $5 increase would be necessary under existing arrangements to pay the import subsidy, which probably explains the willingness of Premier Davis to negotiate on the basis of a $5 increase.

However, a completely different approach is possible. The federal government could raise the necessary money to maintain one price for oil across Canada through taxation rather than an enormous price hike.

We estimate that a tax of $1 per barrel next January, and $1 per barrel next July would produce enough revenue to pay the additional import subsidies required by future increases in OPEC oil prices. Revenue would also be available to support energy conservation programs and projects, and develop renewable energy supplies and systems. While an increase averaged over 1980 of $1.50 per barrel would have significant effects on Ontario's economy, it would be much easier to take than increases of the magnitude proposed by Premier Davis.

What is required is strong political will to present the case for the Ontario consumer in Ottawa, and to make it plain that Alberta and the oil companies will not be reaping extra revenue at the expense of the people of this province.

The power to set the price of oil, and to implement the alternative policy which we have proposed rests solely with the federal government. Alberta's approval, consent and cooperation are unnecessary. The only essential is for the federal government to be determined to recognize that our province has rights too, and that the time has come to say to Premier Lougheed, for the present at least, that enough is enough.

Inspection program for buses planned

Transportation and Communications Minister James Snow has announced that a new, comprehensive bus inspection program comes into effect October 31, 1979.

"I want to make sure all bus operators in the province are aware of this new program," the Minister said.

Buses found operating on provincial streets and highways without the appropriate safety inspection stickers after the end of the month will be removed from service until the stickers have been obtained.

The new program covers nearly all bus categories, except school buses which are already covered under Ontario's school bus inspection program.

Under the new program, a "bus" is defined as a motor vehicle with dual wheels or tandem rear axles, other than those fitted with a truck or delivery body, and designed to carry 10 or more passengers.

It includes all buses operated by or under contract to a municipality or transit authority; buses licensed as public vehicles under the Public Vehicles Act; and similar vehicles used for the transportation of persons in wheelchairs, regardless of designed seating capacity.

The new inspection program covers nearly all bus categories, including buses privately owned and operated by colleges and universities, church and service groups, sports organizations and industry.

Snow said the inspections must be carried out by a registered licensed mechanic at one of the 9,000 licensed inspection stations in the province, or at licensed company-owned facilities.

Vehicles which meet the required standards will be issued two stickers - a safety inspection sticker valid for six months, and a special brake inspection sticker valid for 12 months. Both must be prominently displayed in full public view on the inner surface of the windshield.

amateur. Any local paper that uses photographs both widely and wisely opens up new horizons to a wide range of people who are otherwise deterred from the printed page.

The weekly newspaper is then, the life-blood of the small town and the rural community. It is the town crier, the forum for local, public opinion. It is the recorder of the history of, and the public voice of the district it serves. It is where people see themselves and their friends, and the small accomplishments that give the rural community its life and existence. It fulfills a need in the communications world that is not satisfied by any other medium, and as such, it is indispensable.

Information on insulation aid now available

Information on the government's Canadian Home Insulation Program for the 1979/80 winter season is now available from the program's Toronto office, according to Victoria-Haliburton M.P. Bill Scott.

Through the program, home owners of dwellings built in Ontario prior to 1961 can save up to $350 on the cost of insulating materials. In order to qualify, insulating material must be acceptable to the CMHC, and the house must be a year-round residence. The federal government will subsidize one-hundred percent of the insulating materials up to the $350

Some people, like me, believe in rolling with the punches, rather than sticking out our chins to show how many we can absorb. I have found that, in general, if I avoid trouble, trouble avoids me.

If I know that some pain in the arm has been trying to get me on the phone, I also know immediately that he or she wants me to do something that I don't want to do. Therefore, I take the phone off the hook and leave it off until the pain has found some other sucker.

Another invention of mine to stay out of trouble is patented as Nega-Prod. This is short for Negative Production. The theory is simple. The more you produce, the more problems you have, whether it is children, manufactured goods or farm products.

The more children you have, the more emotional and economic problems you create for yourself. The more goods you produce, the more you have to hustle to fine customers and meet payrolls. The more farm stuff you raise, whether it's beef or beans, the greater your chance of being caught in a glut on the market.

Our great national railways caught on to this years ago. When they had lots of passengers, they had lots of problems. People wanted comfort, cleanliness, decent meals, and some assurance that they would get where they were going on time. There was much more money to be made, and fewer problems, by transporting wheat and lumber and cattle.

So the railways began treating people like cattle. Passenger trains became uncomfortable and dirty. Quality of the food dropped like a stone. And they never arrived on time.

Presto. End of problems. No more passengers. So the railways were able to cut off non-paying passenger lines, get rid of all those superfluous things like station agents and telegraphers and train conductors, and concentrate on taking from one point to another things that paid their way and didn't talk back: newsprint, coal, oil, wheat.

Perhaps this is the answer for our provincial governments, which, are quickly and quietly building massive mountains of debt for future taxpayers.

Perhaps they should just stop building highways, and repairing those already in existence. We'd all be sore as hell for a while, but as the roads got worse and worse, most of us would stop driving our cars. The governments would save millions of dollars now spent on highways, and they could fire two-thirds of the highway cops.

I don't quite see how the governments could use Nega-Prod to get out of the liquor business, which certainly produces plenty of problems. The booze trade is so profitable that asking government to abandon it would be like asking a millionaire to forsake his country estate for a run-down farm.

Perhaps if they had a Free Booze Day, once a week, every week, say on a Saturday, it would solve a number of problems. It would certainly reduce the surplus population. This, in turn, would cut down, drastically, the unemployment figures.

Should the provincial governments find that Nega-Prod is all I've suggested, some of it might spill over into the federal government, usually the last to catch on to what the country really needs.

Instead of the manna and honey flowing from Ottawa in the form of baby bonuses and pensions, we might get some terse manifestos:

"People who have more than one and half children will be sent to jail for four years. Note: separate jails."

"Persons who plan to live past 65 and claim a pension will be subject to an open season each year, from October 1 to Thanksgiving Day. Shotguns and bicycle chains only."

"All veterans of all wars may claim participation by reason of insanity, and may apply to Ottawa for immediate euthanasia."

These might seem slightly Draconian measures, but they sure would put an end to a lot of our problems and troubles. Think of what they would do for such sinful activities as sex, growing old, and hanging around the Leg-

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

Tonight's Your Meeting

The Chamber annual meeting is being held today, Wednesday, October 10. By the time most of you read this column it will be over. Approximately 125 members of our community, it is expected, will have attended and voted for their choice of the directors they wish to see serve on our board during the next year. For the second consecutive year more individuals have indicated their willingness to give up their time on your behalf, than there are positions on the board. There may even be more nominated from the floor at the meeting. Although it is an extremely healthy sign to have an election the sad part of an election is that everyone can't win. All of those running for the board, both successful and unsuccessful, deserve your appreciation for their good intentions.

For those who are not in attendance at this annual meeting we sincerely hope that the decisions reached by those that are, meet with your approval. After all it is your Chamber of Commerce.

We would like at this time to extend our very sincere thanks to the four directors who are stepping down from the board of directors this year. Don Nye who formerly owned the Wagon Wheel Motel was with us for nine years and has put a great deal of time and effort into the Chamber. Don is now building himself a new house and a shop to create his Woodland Graphics items and his time will be taken up with these endeavours. Marshall Leighton was with our board for the past two years and was very active in working towards the creation of a businessmen's association. Marshall is now semi-retired and is looking to new interests and we wish him all the best.

Bill Smith was also with the board two years and has served as our delegate to the Central Ontario Travel Association in Peterborough during that time and he served on their executive. He was appointed by that body to sit on the Tourism Ontario board representing three travel associations. Bill hopes to pursue his interests in tourism at that level as well as operating his own business at Elephant Lake Lodge along with his wife Sandy. Bob Patton was just on the board for a year, but found that with the responsibilities of two businesses that he could just not devote the amount of time he would like to, to the Chamber. Bob, along with his wife Eleanor, operate both Beech View Cottage resort and North Shore Lawn & Garden Equipment.

Thanks again, all of you, for your time, your help, and your guidance.

Welcome New Owners

The Beaconbrook Motor Hotel is reopening this week in Haliburton under the new ownership of George Schmid. George comes to us from the Ottawa Valley where he managed a small hotel for a number of years before deciding to get into something on his own. He plans on expanding on the dining room business and will be offering luncheon specials and late evening dining. George

COUNTY ECHO SPORTS

Eye on Sports

by Joe Banks

With fall comes the appearance of the upland game hunter, and with him a collection of shotguns and/or rifles that are the tools of his recreation. In Haliburton County each fall, hundreds of hunters line lakes, stalk quietly through wooded groves and wait patiently on a grassy meadow for a feathered bird that will supply a relatively cheap meal for a family fond of wild game. The problem with this annual ritual is the few hunters who do not respect their firearms, or who simply lack the intelligence and common-sense of a good hunter. It's not uncommon to hear of a sportsman shooting himself in the foot while climbing a fence, or accidentally wounding his buddy during the excitement of a flight of birds. Nor is it unusual to go walking through a popular hunt path and find beer or liquor bottles lining the way.

Unfortunately, it is these people who taint the word 'hunting' and make the sport look barbarous and fool-hardy. The majority of sportsmen are good hunters, they respect wildlife and understand the importance of conservation. Most hunters know the basic safety measures to follow when hiking in bush, or sitting in a blind waiting for ducks.

But this fall, accidents will happen almost inevitably, and the Ministry of Natural Resources will try to keep the incidents down to a minimum. The introduction of the Haliburton County Marksmen Club this past spring and its apparent success is a good sign that hunters, especially residents, are taking more of an interest not only in effective shooting, but safety and responsibility in the handling of a firearm.

Perhaps the sad stories will dissipate with the establishment of such organizations. Hunters from outside of the county who have never bothered to review proper hunting procedure, safety and principals might be wise to drop in on one of the club's meetings, or consider enrolling in a club or organization closer to home.

The knowledge gained would benefit not only the sportsman, but the wildlife as well...

...The ladies have had their bash, now it's our turn, right fellas? The Haliburton men's recreational baseball league is holding a banquet for the four teams on October 26 at the Legion Hall. The dance will start at 9 p.m. and admission will be $5 per couple. The champions of the league, Curry Motors will be presented with the winners trophy...

...And if you thought pick-up baseball was fun, just head down to the Dysart arena next Monday the 15th, to sign up for pick-up hockey. The Kinsmen Club of Haliburton will be renting the ice every Monday night for this purpose. If you're interested, make it to the arena by 9:30 p.m....

...The Kinsmen will also partially sponsor a skate-a-thon on November 2 and 3 to raise money for the Haliburton Figure Skating Club. The Kinsmen are challenging the Ontario Provincial Police at the fund-raising. Children will be allowed to skate from 4 to 6 p.m. on Friday and the adults and children can take to the ice together on the Saturday at the same time...

...The weather has taken a turn for the worst (depending on what kind of climate you like) during this past week, and we ended up accumulating some white stuff last Monday morning. Soon, we'll be able to tune-up the snowmobile and shine up our skis, and enjoy the winter in the way most of us would probably like; lots of fresh air, red cheeks and bright, crisp days...

Wednesday afternoon bowling

Linda Morrison came up with the high triple after she rolled singles of 242, 204 and 239 in the Wednesday afternoon bowling league.

Other high triples included Fran Woods, with singles of 227, 242 and 199, and Bill Barber came up with 663, and singles of 199, 209 and 255. Pearl Foster rolled a 642 with 187, 231 and 224, and Harry Henderson came up with a 601, and singles of 222, 171 and 208.

Also, single games over 200 were bowled by Ev Stata with 241, Beulah Cowen with 208, Flo Henderson with 200 and 212 and Mary Parozanin with 203.

In the team standings, team two is leading with 10 points, while both teams three and one are tied for second with nine points. Team five has six points and team four have five points. Taking up sixth place is team six with three points.

It's up and in! The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School senior girls basketball team took to the courts last Friday to compete against I. E. Weldon Secondary School. Though the home team lost the game, enthusiasm was high among the players, and the girls were spurred on by an effective cheering section.

Redmen defence stands firm as squad shuts down Lindsay

by Joe Banks

If there was ever a time in the history of high school football when the importance of a good defense has been illustrated, it was at a football game between the Haliburton Redmen and the Lindsay Trojans last Thursday.

It was the defense that won the game in Lindsay for the Redmen that day, and despite repeated efforts on the part of the home team, and close scoring drives, the Haliburton squad shut out the highly-touted double 'A' team by a score of 10 to 0.

Haliburton had beaten Lindsay only once before, two years ago, and despite muddy field conditions and rainy weather, Thursday, the Redmen played their strongest game of the season.

In the first quarter, the Redmen kicked off, and after some ball interchanges, the action settled on the Trojans' 25-yard line. Haliburton moved the ball in and following a fumble on the Lindsay one-yard line, the home team gained possession. But Alan Northey, on the next play, sacked the Trojan quarterback in their end zone for two points.

Redmen win 10 to 0

The second quarter saw the Lindsay team continually test the defense of the Redmen. Among the many key defensive plays; Chris Hodgson knocked down a screen pass, as did Mike Hatkoski, and Steve Bishop tackled a Lindsay player in Haliburton's end zone before he made a completed catch. At half time, the score remained 2 to 0.

In the third quarter, "we came up with the best offensive play of the game," said coach Gary Brohman after the game. The Redmen steamroller achieved five first downs in this quarter out of a total of eight throughout the entire game. Tim Davies kicked a 45-yard single point, but the Lindsay team continued to knock on the Redmen's door, and Haliburton continued to shut the team down. Bishop came up with an interception on the team's 20-yard line, and some good punt returns followed up from Mike Hatkoski and Bishop. Mike Iles, Ted Pilcher and Ed Roberts came up with some key defensive plays as well.

But into the fourth, the Redmen began running into penalties. They received five butt blocking infractions in a row, and faced with these set-backs, on a first down and 30 yards to go, the Redmen came up big again. Steve Davies went into the scrimmage, threw the ball to Tim Davies who punted from there. The ball ended up on the Lindsay three-yard line after a tackle by Ed Roberts.

Again, Lindsay moved the ball up the field to the Redmen 35-yard line, where Haliburton regained control once more. After ball exchanges, a Lindsay fumble on the Redmen 25-yard line was recovered by Northey. From there, on a series of drive and power plays to Jamie Rogers, Butch Manery and Hodgson, Haliburton stood on the Lindsay three-yard line. Tim Davies essentially sealed the game for Haliburton when he came up with a quarterback sneak and converted to finish the game 10 to 0.

Brohman said following the game that an "honourable mention" should go out to Rich Choy and Peter Johnson, two players who "made a lot of tackles" but added the whole team could be named as having played top-notch ball. Offensively, according to Brohman, Jamie Rogers and Tim Davies were key players, but the brunt of the victory came about as the result of a strong Redmen defense. "Defensively," said Brohman, "we're as good as any football team in this district."

The Redmen will have a week off, and will "maintain

Schedule will change for Haliburton Huskies

Only four teams entered as Bobcaygeon drops out of 'D'

The Bobcaygeon Junior 'D' hockey team will not be entered in this season's schedule, according to a team liaison officer to the OMHA.

The decision not to form a team, which plays in the same league as the Haliburton Huskies, came about because the squad had problems with "player response," said Ron Betts, team spokesman.

Several former Bobcaygeon 'D' players have decided to play in 'C' or in some cases, 'B' leagues for surrounding teams in the area. The remaining players will form a Bobcaygeon juvenile team.

"The guys that were involved decided to let it go back to a juvenile situation for a year or two, and build up a decent nucleus to get going on again," said Betts.

He added that over the past two years the team has been losing players who were brought up through the minor hockey ranks to the other divisions. "There just didn't seem to be too many left to fill the positions again."

Betts said many of the boys who were to play were drawn from fringe areas around Bobcaygeon, and "there were no real problems" with dissolving the team. There are ample chances for players to try out for the 'C' team in Lakefield, and the juvenile squad will provide the alternative for players not good enough to play in a higher league. Because Bobcaygeon had a "fairly young club last year," formulating a juvenile club "shouldn't be any problem," said Betts.

"It still isn't too late for a large majority of the kids to get picked up for the juveniles."

The schedule will be altered to accommodate the four remaining teams in the league, Haliburton, Lakefield, Bewdley and Bancroft.

SNOW REMOVAL TENDERS Are Invited For Ontario Hydro (Minden) Service Centre [79/80 Season]

Tenders will be received for the removal and disposal of snow from the service yard and parking lots and sanding services on an as-required basis at Ontario Hydro's Minden Area Service Centre located on Hwy. 35, Minden.

The contractor is to supply the necessary rubber-tired equipment with operators (hourly rated) and sand is to be screened and salted.

Roads and parking areas are to be cleared by 7:30 a.m. of accumulations of three (3) inches or more.

Tenders are to be submitted by 4:00 p.m. on November 1, 1979 on company letterhead.

A symphony of destruction

Demolition derby in Minden attracts 12 cars

Screaming engines, flying dirt and crunching metal combined in a symphony of destruction last Saturday as the Minden Kinsmen sponsored their third annual demolition derby.

This year's event attracted some 12 cars, all of which sported some wild brush work and interior modifications that left little but the driver's seat intact.

Several days of rain kept the dust down but made the ground soft beside the Minden arena. The result was low speeds, spinning tires and cars that lasted drivers through several heats, though with each round the vehicles retained fewer and fewer of their original body contours.

Organizers estimated that close to 400 people were on hand to watch the action, which included a lot of frantic cutting, bending and banging between heats as drivers struggled to get their damaged cars mobile again for the next round.

When the action was over, Bill MacMinn of Minden emerged the overall winner. He took home the Browns Auto Wreckers trophy and $100 for his efforts. Second was Gary Brown of Minden, who won $60. Wayne Harpell was third and took home $40.

In the consolation event, which was open to cars finishing lower than second in the four preliminary heats, Wayne Greer was the winner of the $30 prize.

Women also had a chance to try their skill and luck in a powder puff event and when the smoke cleared, Ruth Ann Conrad had the last car able to move. She took home the Dixie Lee Cup and $24 for her efforts. In second spot was Carol Bible, who won $12.

Organizers say they expect to show a profit of close to $400 when all expenses have been met. The money will be used for Kinsmen sponsored community projects.

Along the Trails

by Roy Bates

A Good Response

The purr of two-cycle engines will again be heard on the trails of the Highlands. The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association emerged from its general meeting with new vigor and determination and with an enlarged board of directors.

The response to the October 6 meeting was very good. The holiday weekend was selected for the purpose for one reason only - to give the cottager snowmobilers an opportunity to participate. Cottagers, and others living outside the county's borders, make up some 60 percent of the club membership roster. They came, they participated, they spoke up on vital issues, and they pledged their continuing support. The members of the board were well pleased.

Selecting a holiday weekend may, however, have had one undesirable effect. The hoped-for participation of tourist operators did not materialize. A drive through the county next day made the reason for that quite clear. The "No Vacancy" signs were lit up at many places.

Tourist operators were too busy to attend.

The snowmobile industry, on the other hand, is well represented on the new board with four of 14 seats taken up by Moore Lake Marine and Prentice Roads. We welcome the input from these new directors and we applaud the Ontario Snowmobile Industry Association for its effort to become more involved in trail building snowmobile clubs. (In a later column perhaps we can elaborate more extensively on the O.S.I.A. and its improved relationship with snowmobiler organizations.)

Good continuity of effort is assured with seven of the old directors re-elected to the new board. The number of directors was increased to 14 when that number of people were nominated and it was unanimously agreed (by motion) that the club could well use the two additional willing workers.

A complete list of directors will be published here next week after the board has had a chance to meet and select its executive officers and committee chairmen.

Stanhope council wants camping crackdown

Stanhope Township council wants to see a crackdown on illegal camping at the Halls Lake swim area, the Halls

Lake gravel pit, and in the Buckslide area.

At a meeting last Wednesday, day, council told Jim Dewey, an official with the Ministry of Natural Resources, that ratepayers had complained about illegal camping in all three areas.

"We're very much concerned," Reeve Jim Harrison said.

Dewey said the Public Land Act gives the municipality the right to prohibit overnight camping on any specified land, and that if signs are erected, the Ontario Provincial Police can enforce the regulations.

No camping signs have been put up at the Halls Lake gravel pit, Dewey said, and "as far as I'm concerned, the situation has been resolved there." Gravel has been piled in front of access points campers used to gain entry to the surrounding woods, he said, adding that the situation is now "fairly well in hand".

"There was a real problem there, but I think that one can be written off for the moment." The Ministry will "monitor the thing next year," to ensure that the no camping regulations are not flouted.

Dewey said the Ministry agrees with council's concerns about the Buckslide area, but that "there isn't a serious overnight camping problem there." He said that

"perhaps twice a year" Ministry staff and police "have to put the run" on campers at Buckslide. "I think that's pretty much in hand."

On the matter of the Halls Lake swimming area, Dewey said the Ministry had given the municipality the right to use the land "on the understanding that you will maintain it."

He said a lease arrangement could be negotiated that would give the municipality the right to police the area for illegal camping, but that the Ministry would also consent to erect no camping signs. The signs are expected to be in place by next spring.

Webb, Stata roll highs in non-smoker's bowling

There were only two big triples this week in non-smokers bowling, Bob Webb with 640 (with singles of 261 and 209), and Wes Stata with 622 (with singles of 240 and 223).

High singles were bowled by Ev Stata with 225 and 203, Ken Sawyer, 220; Ken Piper, 212; Ron Robinson, 211 and Shirley Webb with 202.

The Kleenaires beat out the Quitters in team play action by a score of 7 to 0, and the Easy Rollers split with the Nicky-teens 4 to 3.

Extendicare News

Monday afternoon brought a CBC program on divorce, featuring the children as the only participants who are really hurt, and a state in our society that proceeds like a game of dominoes. How permissive is our society in the midst of opulence, permitting the indulgences of children, the adolescents, then adults. Opulence provides liquor, precious fuel and cars to guzzle it, not knowing it is scarce, commuting up to a hundred miles night and morning to work, all of which exhausts family life, leaving the children to make do. Opulence is the devil that prompts the man to own a vicious dog to deliberately molest passers-by, whether children or adults, and getting off in our system of justice with say a measly $50 fine. Our society is permitted to be vicious like the dogs, and with the viciousness, husbands and wives become vicious to one another, ending in divorce. What hope does a marriage counsellor have in such a setting? This is the year of the child and they are important, more important than anything else. Let's try to help.

John Young, a recent resident of a second admission, has left us and much as we hope, we are informed that he will not be readmitted. Wherever he is we wish the very best for him.

House plants are taking our attention, a more recent one being an episcia of the violet family, more familiarly known as the chocolate soldier. We have three of them but the one is especially beautiful, spreading out in its tiers of shoots over the sides of its pot, though it is not in bloom. There are many nice African violets with plentiful budding and some flowers. The air layered dieffenbachia manages with only one light support and soon we will remove that. It was an encouraging stunt which may be why so many people like to work and stunt with them.

Tuesday morning some of our ladies, Mrs. Flossie Burk, Mrs. Florence Stagg, Mrs. Myrtle Pritchard, Mrs. Vera Griffin and Mrs. Hazel Parish did much of our baking for our coming Mexican fiesta, in particular, some tortilla. That should be some attraction to the Thursday evening party.

We acknowledge with thanks a nice cheque from "Reva's World" in connection with a sales and exhibition held here last summer.

Tuesday's bingo found Mrs. Betty Gibson, Mrs. Thelma Springer, Mrs. Betty Wise, and Mrs. Dorothy Iles as voluntary helpers, also Miss Karen Henderson, who now reports that we still need the outer portion of another 41,600 empty cigarette boxes, that part that if you hold it up makes a handy peek through. Karen reports they are coming in fast. The bingo part was a great success.

We have been advised of a new Happy Gang member, Robert Berry of Bobcaygeon. You will remember how sleepy this place looked when we passed through on the way to a picnic at Peterborough. We will do our best to look after Bob.

For a long time we have been seeing and listening to those electronic organs that with a skilled keyboard artist can make you weep, and have decided we would like one to adorn our lounge at Extendicare, nor would we be the first Extendicare to get one. Just think of the possibilities with all the keyboard artists we have around including - Mrs. Nancy Picard, Raymond Jenkins, Mrs. Betty Salvatori, Mrs. Gerane Bonyun, Mrs. Sheila Elston, R.N., Mrs. Marilyn Stouffer, Rev. Trevor Denny, Mrs. Kim Brown and many others, bringing displeasure by missing someone.

Wednesday we moved most of our lawn furniture into the shed for winter storage. It was a good day being warm and dry.

We are in receipt of an avocado fruit donated by Mrs. Marjorie Fedorchuk with a view of propagating an avocado plant. This will be interesting and according to the book we first eat the fruit but not the pit or seed and the seed can be placed in water or soil, half-way up in either media, and watch it sprout at the same time, though, be prepared for a disappointment. Not all of them take root, but we will report progress.

The Mexican fiesta was kicked off Thursday evening with that amazing delightful duet, Mrs. Nancy Picard, accordion and Ray Jenkins, piano. It boded well for the party creating a festive mood. Even though we had no Mexicans in attendance, we did have their cute oversized sombreros. Thus did Nancy and Ray entertain us to midway then blending with and taken over by Al Blanchard and his boys, Carmen Smith, guitar, Bob Long, guitar, Phil Finlay, guitar, Carl Holmstrom, guitar and Oscar Stewart, violin, all of whom were in rare form to induce us to dance and give rhythm to the funny capers of Nancy, Mary Currah, Pat Burk, Jake Gill and Mrs. Mary McKee. It was all fun with no missed beats till refreshments came, all of which comprised many goodies, even some chopped avocado fruit jellied. All was superb, a really good time. A lovely dessert of lemon snow catered by our gracious present chef, Mrs. Bernice Stewart, climaxed the refreshments.

Friday morning it was Rev. John Smith's, of Lakeside Baptist Church, turn to shepherd us during our devotional period. He was accompanied by three men, each a different facet of evangelism; Ken Carter of Memphis, Tennessee, baritone soloist to a cassette playback for accompaniment, Ken Barr of Toronto, a very versatile key

In every craft there are guidelines to perfection that have been set down by the professionals and these guidelines are what the amateur crafts person ultimately strives for.

But how do you, the layman, in purchasing a hand-crafted item know what to look for in order to obtain quality? Today I will discuss pottery and in the weeks to come I'll attempt to cover a variety of crafts available here in our county with the hope that it will encourage both the consumer and the artisan in their quest for perfection.

Below is a list of things to look for when buying functional as well as decorative pottery:

- overall serviceability.
- smooth bottoms, that will not scratch surfaces.
- even, uniform glazes, i.e.: no pinholing or flaking of glazes.
- lead-free glazes for oven or functional use, i.e.: all glazes used in our Guild studio and studios of producing potters in Haliburton are lead-free glazes.
- secure handles, placed at the correct angle for serviceability.
- walls of pots, mugs, casseroles, etc. that are uniform in thickness. Some potters prefer thicker walls, but a good overall size is approximately 1/4 inch thick.
- lightness of pot, i.e.: feels lighter than it looks.
- warped pots or cracked pots, handles, lids, etc. unacceptable.

I sincerely hope this will help you in purchasing the best of our crafts people have to offer.

Little Theatre Group
Every Monday and Thursday evening at the Hyland Crest Home in Minden, director Steve Phillips puts his cast of eight through their paces, honing and polishing their performances in order to present to you, the public, a Noel Coward play entitled "Blyth Spirit".

This production will be presented to you on Friday evening, November 16 and Saturday evening, November 17, at the Haliburton high school, but more about this at a later date.

The cast, being a small one, sees each and every member fulfilling a number of positions from acting to doing backstage work.

In a recent conversation with Bev Simmons, as well as Caryl Douglas, both stressed the fact that more members are needed. If acting isn't your thing, but you would still like to be involved in the theatre group, here are a list of positions that possibly you could fill, lighting director, sound effects, stage manager, prop men and women, makeup, ushers, program and ticket sellers.

So, if you have grease paint in your blood, come on out and join this fun group. For only $10 membership fee, you too may become another Robert Redford or Kate Reid.

For further information call Bev Simmons at 286-2831.

Preview Show of Guild Members' Work
After the Christmas sale at the Raily's End Gallery, Guild members will have another opportunity to show and sell their best pieces. As a trial run for the up-coming Ontario Crafts Council exhibition in May, there will be a show in the Gallery, December 4 - December 22, of member's works that will be screened from a total of three submitted pieces.

This is a chance to show your finest efforts in our own Gallery as well as have experience for the regional show we'll be hosting. For further particulars call Sharon Barclay at 489-2445.

Jill Audrey Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wren Blair of Haliburton, and Gordon Ray Braithwaite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Braithwaite of Newmarket, were married Saturday, September 15 in St. George's Anglican Church, Oshawa. Rev. David Peasgood officiated. Maid of honour was Julie Dolbec of Edina, Minnesota. Bridesmaids were Valerie Ohlson of Chicago, Illinois, Libby Blair of Willowdale, Mimi Braithwaite of Newmarket, Sherri Taylor of Oshawa, and Heather Kyc of Oshawa. Danny Baxter of Richmond Hill was best man. Ushers were Danny Blair of Willowdale, David Braithwaite of Newmarket, Steven Langdon of Mississauga, Kim McMaster of Richmond Hill and Mike Reimer of Bolton. A reception followed at the Oshawa Golf Club. The couple honeymooned in Nashville, Tennessee. They will reside on Markham Road in Richmond Hill.

Over 60 people gather for Elstone reunion

The second reunion of the Elstone family took place on Saturday, September 29, 1979 at Birch Point Lodge on Lake Kashagawigamog. Approximately 60 people gathered on the lawn for pot luck luncheon that was thoroughly enjoyed by all. In the afternoon, some played outdoor games, while others went for plane rides with Ron Tyler, from Haliburton Air Services. They reported that the colour of the leaves was really something to see from the air. The less active members spent an enjoyable time visiting with relatives they hadn't seen since the reunion last year. The highlight of the afternoon for the young at heart, was the sudden appearance of "Beep Beep", the friendly clown. The children were thoroughly excited, and his clowning behaviour amused everyone.

Around 4 p.m. the group disassembled to prepare for the dinner at night. At 6:30 everyone sat down to a roast beef dinner. The blessing was asked by Norman Elstone of Toronto.

John Elstone acting as master of ceremonies brought to everyone's attention that Reg and Rose Bolender were celebrating their wedding anniversary, and that September 29 was Patricia Lynne Elstone's birthday. They were each given a small memento to mark the occasions.

Don Elstone and son Norman entertained the relatives by singing, playing the guitar and mouth organ. These old-time favourite songs brought back many memories.

Then Jill Elstone and Mary Gardiner put on a skit, portraying the painting of a mountain scene called "The Gathering of the Nuts". This proved to be an amusing, crowd moving experience. Once again the friendly clown "Beep Beep" appeared bringing along his friend "Burp Burp" the lion. They presented each of the children with a small gift.

Mrs. Rizpah Elstone of Soyer's Lake was the eldest person, being 93 years of age on September 25, 1979. Anthony Chemienti, 8½ months old, was the youngest of the relatives present. He is the great grandchild of Mrs. Audrey Elstone of Haliburton.

The evening was spent in dancing and social chit chat. The committee said they wished to thank everyone who participated to make the reunion so enjoyable and to extend special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Casey, Mrs. Gould and the staff of Birch Point Lodge for their generous hospitality.

VERY LITTLE DOWN WHEN YOU LEASE A NEW CAR FROM US

That's because your deposit on a new leased car can be substantially less than what you'd put down to buy a new car. What's more, you'll never fret over what your lease car is worth at trade-in time because your car will never get too old.

Each monthly leasing payment also covers such costs of enjoying a new car as financing, depreciation, taxes.

There are other solid reasons for leasing a new Chevrolet from us. So, come on in. Let's discuss the lease plan ... and that new Chevrolet ... that fit your needs.

And your pocketbook.

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunder

All members of council were present at the October 2 meeting in the township office. Additional staff for the Coboconk OPP detachment is to be requested by way of a circular letter to be sent to local OPP detachment, local MPP, and office of the Attorney-General and the same request is to be forwarded to County Council and to the other affected municipalities for their endorsement.

Lot 31, Plan 266, is to be surveyed and sidelines fenced and a call for tenders for fencing of same. Delinquent payers of snow plowing accounts will not be plowed until arrears are paid and a $25 deposit made. Photocopier 3M Model 209, is to be purchased per the terms submitted by the representative. Clerk is to contact by registered mail, delinquent taxpayers to remind them of council's previous decision that taxes must be paid up by the end of 1979 in order to avoid tax registration procedures. M.T.C. is to be petitioned for interim payment under the Public Transportation and Highway Improvement Act on expenditures made up to October 31, 1979. An operating permit for the requested 20 sites at Island View Trailer Park was approved as a favourable report from the by-law enforcement officer was received. The reeve and the treasurer were authorized to pay from the parks account, the bill when submitted by Don McLean for the Ward Park sign. A nickel plate type by-law enforcement badge is to be ordered by the clerk.

Since the new Ward Memorial Park sign was mentioned in the council minutes, I hope that, sometime in the near future, everyone will take the opportunity to view this large attractive sign made and designed by Don McLean of the Big M sign company. It is a definite asset to the area and points out to anyone passing by on Highway 35, that we do have a park in Norland.

While on the subject of art work, the washroom graffiti that was painted in very large letters at the intersection of Highways 35 and 503 was removed by the highways department on Friday morning. One of the unfortunate things about this type of work is that it is the whole of Norland that is demeaned when a persons or persons spend their time writing such words. It is just too bad that their time couldn't be better spent. Several of the local people think that, as a community, should be considering adult supervised recreation of some type in hopes of keeping these young people off of the streets at night and more usefully occupied. Let's all give it some thought in the next few weeks!

Did you notice the large zucchini in the township office window? It was grown by Mrs. Bertha Saunders and is 19 inches long and over 16 inches around. That is a lot of zucchini!

Norland Women's Institute held their regular monthly on Monday, October 1 at 7:45 p.m. in W.I. hall. In the absence of president, Mrs. Patricia Watson, Mrs. Hazel Gostlin chaired the meeting. Following the roll call which was answered with a common household ingredient idea as a substitute for a more expensive cleanser, convenor Jeannette Lywood read the worship. The minutes were then read giving a complete report of the Norland W.I.'s 50th anniversary meeting on September 11, followed by treasurer's report. It was noted that the Victoria East W.I. branches will hold their craft day on Wednesday, October 17 in Fenelon Falls United Church from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. and admission is 75 cents. There will be craft displays, sale of baked goods, afternoon tea and special children's crafts and demonstrations, commemorating the year of the child.

Toronto's Royal Roy Hotel will again be the place for the 77th convention of Central Ontario Area Women's Institute on November 8 and 9. Mrs. Evelyn Moore of Oakwood will be guest speaker at the banquet Thursday, November 8 and the Wright Gospel Singers will be featured. Mrs. Jean Stewart agreed to represent Norland branch. Conveners for the October meeting were Fae Quinn, Marj Lee and Jeannette Lywood and the theme was family and consumer affairs with special speaker, former home economist teacher, Mrs. Gloria Cameron. She discussed the importance of a proper and nutritious diet. Each day, according to Canada's Food Facts, a person should eat two servings from category A, Milk and milk products, B, meat and alternates, C, bread and cereals, and 4 to 5 servings of D, fruits and vegetables. Following her informative address, Mrs. Cameron was thanked by Fae Quinn. Next W.I. meeting is on Monday, November 5 in the W.I. hall and new members are most welcome.

Norland bowling team standings as of Wednesday, October 3. Mike McAllister - 23 points; Rotha Bryant - 20 points; Wanda Landry - 18 points; Harry Smith - 12 points; Trent Watson - 12 points; Michelle Angiers - 11 points; Jim Boyce - 9 points and Peter Purcell - 6 points. Ladies high single - Vicki Duck 208, high triple and average - Betty Davey 502, 157. Men's high single - Jesse Buxey 224, high triple - Jim Boyce 585 and high average - Mike McAllister - 181.

Join friends and neighbours at the Ladies Auxiliary Hallows' evening dance on Saturday, October 27 in the Norland Community hall from 7:00 to 11:00 p.m.

The name of the game was chess at the Rails' End Station Gallery in Haliburton last Thursday night. Though only a few players showed up for the informal duel of thought, organizers hope to continue the chess night throughout the winter. Any players interested in taking part are asked to contact Joe Banks at the Haliburton Echo, phone 457-1037.

Carnarvon News

by Blanche Windsor

I am writing part of this a bit early for we are expecting some of our family for the weekend so I will not have much time. Craig and his family will spend the weekend at the homes of two grandparents, while Phyllis and two daughters will be at the Windsors. The leaves have been gorgeous and we are hoping the weather will be nice for over the weekend. I wonder if all that hazy weather was Indian summer? That lovely poem has been running through my head and I feel badly to think that our grandchildren are not being taught a love of poetry. While travelling, Maurice and I can quote poetry from our old readers for miles. We also go over the Ontario's counties and county towns and Haliburton's municipalities.

Mr. and Mrs. Syd Barnes have been having themselves a holiday. They were in Chatham for the International Plowing Match, spent the weekend with their daughter and visited the Markham Fair. Their son spent two years of school at Winfield, Ontario, and they take him there on the 8th for open house.

I have just been inquiring when the former Mrs. Richard Thomson would arrive and find that Mr. and Mrs. Barker have been here and gone. They were just here three days and Dorothy's friends would like to have seen her and her husband. They stayed at Hart Lodge, had dinner with her good friend, Estelle Ralph, and called on Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Sisson, from whom they had purchased the Homestead, where she and Dick lived for many years.

The October meeting of the U.C.W. was held Wednesday afternoon and two films were shown.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harrison and Mrs. Bert Johnson were in Toronto on Wednesday to visit their brother Cecil, who is still in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnhart were in Toronto this week for Gail's annual check-up.

Glad to see Mark Fennel at church on Sunday after his recent operation.

Mrs. Alice Smith of Toronto is with the Ross Harrisons and will be there for Thanksgiving. She plans to spend most of the winter in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harpur will be at their home here for the weekend. We were pleased to hear that Mr. Clayton McKay was well enough to have a hair-cut here in Carnarvon. The new owner of Foster's Store is also a barber and has set up shop. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hussey have sold their cottage on Twelve Mile and spent some time with Ross's mother.

Congratulations to Mr. Eldon Sibley who was recently presented with a plaque for 30 years faithful service by the M.T.C. upon his retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Billings spent the holiday weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Madill near Grand Bend, Ontario.

Guests for a few days from Niagara-on-the-Lake with Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. John Uptergrove. Also dropping in over the holiday were Mr. and Mrs. Chic Bidgood of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Armstrong of Haliburton, and Miss Nancy Anderson of Peterborough for the weekend.

Mrs. Clem Boyd has returned home after a couple months visiting in Toronto. Miss Helen Bates and Ken visited with their parents for a few days.

Calling in for a visit on Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Haas were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ridell of Peterborough.

On September 19 we noticed a lot of wild geese flying over, heading south and of course, they do tell us a message. Then we saw people hauling fire wood and it made us stop and think, winter was on its way. A few days later we had some most beautiful weather and the leaves were so pretty, truly a masterpiece no man could paint. Then today, October 9 we rise to all this snow, rather early don't you think? Anyway that's life, so get out the snow shovels.

Welcome home to Ruth and Wally Marks who have spent the summer at their golf course in Beaverton, Ontario.

Miss Sheila Stamp and friend, Spyro Patsolas and Lindsay of Lindsay, Ontario, spent a couple days with Mr. and Mrs. A. Stamp, also Mr. and Mrs. T. Stamp and baby were guests.

Mrs. Elsie Sibley has been chosen to fly to St. Paul's, Minnesota, U.S.A. to attend the International Wood Workers of America Convention for the Union Local 21000. She will be spending a week there.

Mr. and Mrs. Vince Cobourn of Oshawa spent the weekend at their cottage in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Walsh and family were up to their summer cottage for the Thanksgiving weekend.

Mr. Kevin Billings of Peterborough spent the weekend with his family.

Some couple of weeks ago, Mr. Rueben and Jim Tindell of Stouffville, Ontario, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Haas. These gentlemen are in their 80 years and enjoying visiting with relatives and to see their homestead near Gooderham.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dack of St. Catharines were up at their summer farm for a few days awhile back.

Miss Joann Billings and her mom visited with Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Miller and girls at Elm Lodge near Peterborough.

IMPORTANT NEWS ABOUT THE CANADA SAVINGS BONDS YOU NOW OWN.

BONUSES DUE ON ISSUES DATED BEFORE 1974

If you own unmatured Canada Savings Bonds dated prior to November 1, 1974, you are entitled to a special cash bonus payment on November 1, 1979. Here are the eligible Series and the amounts payable per $100 face value:

Series	Cash Bonus Payable November 1, 1979
1967/68 (S22)	$32.50
1968/69 (S23)	$23.50
1970/71 (S25)	$16.75
1971/72 (S26)	$19.75
1972/73 (S27)	$20.25
1973/74 (S28)	$20.50

(Holders of the Centennial Series, dated Nov. 1, 1966 and maturing on Nov. 1, 1979, will receive at maturity a cash bonus of $30.75 per $100 face value.)

These cash bonuses, which were introduced in 1974, increase the effective annual yield on the bonds to 10 1/2% from September 1, 1974 to October 31, 1979.

A FINAL BONUS AT MATURITY

In addition to the November 1, 1979 cash bonus, you will also receive a final cash bonus payment, providing you hold these bonds to maturity. With the final bonus, your bonds will continue to yield 10 1/2% to their maturity date.

Series	Maturity Date	Final Cash Bonus Payable at Maturity Per $100 Face Value
1967/68 (S22)	Nov. 1, 1980	$ 4.50
1968/69 (S23)	Nov. 1, 1982	$11.75
1970/71 (S25)	Nov. 1, 1981	$ 5.50
1971/72 (S26)	Nov. 1, 1980	$ 2.75
1972/73 (S27)	Nov. 1, 1984	$17.00
1973/74 (S28)	Nov. 1, 1985	$21.50

HOW TO CLAIM YOUR NOVEMBER 1, 1979 BONUS

Simply take your bond to any bank or other authorized Canada Savings Bond issuing agent. As proof of payment, they'll remove the upper left hand corner and the bond will then be given back to you. Remember, you do not have to redeem your bond or clip any of the interest coupons in order to get this cash bonus payment.

Starting October 9 you can make advance arrangements to claim your special cash bonus. If you act in October, all the paperwork in connection with the payment of the cash bonus will be done for you immediately and the transfer of funds will take place automatically on November 1.

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS A GREAT CHOICE

New Canada Savings Bonds yield 10 1/4% every year for 7 years. On sale October 9th.

YIELD INCREASED ON LAST FIVE ISSUES

Effective from November 1, 1979 the average annual yield to maturity on issues dated November 1, 1974 to November 1, 1978 has been increased to 10 1/4%.

1974/75, 1975/76 AND 1976/77 SERIES

Holders of these Series will receive the new, higher return in the form of a cash bonus payable on the maturity date of the bonds. The cash bonus increases the effective annual yield on these bonds to 10 1/4% from November 1, 1979 to maturity. Here are the bonuses payable per $100 face value:

Series	Maturity Date	Cash Bonus Payable at Maturity
1974/75 (S29)	Nov. 1, 1983	$2.50
1975/76 (S30)	Nov. 1, 1984	$4.75
1976/77 (S31)	Nov. 1, 1985	$8.00

To receive your cash bonus, you have to hold your bond to maturity. You can however continue to cash your coupons or interest cheques each year and still be entitled to the cash bonus.

1977/78 AND 1978/79 SERIES

Effective from November 1, 1979 these Series will now yield 10 1/4% interest for each remaining year to maturity.

With the increased rate of return, holders of Regular Interest Bonds of these Series will now receive an annual interest payment of $102.50 per $1,000 face value each November 1, beginning in 1980, until the bonds mature.

For Compound Interest Bonds, interest will now accumulate at the new rate of 10 1/4% a year. This interest is payable when the bonds are redeemed or at maturity. Here's how the value of a $100 Compound Interest Bond will now grow:

	1977/78 Series	1978/79 Series
Nov. 1, 1979	$115.81	$109.50
Nov. 1, 1980	$127.69	$120.72
Nov. 1, 1981	$140.77	$133.10
Nov. 1, 1982	$155.20	$146.74
Nov. 1, 1983	$171.11	$161.78
Nov. 1, 1984	$188.65	$178.36
Nov. 1, 1985	$207.99	$196.65
Nov. 1, 1986	$229.30

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

With Thanksgiving over most of the cottages are snugly closed up for the winter. It wasn't too nice a weekend so maybe some waited until later on, hoping we still will have nice weather this month. This past weekend reminds me of a verse "When October's golden harvest is safely stored away, let come the frosty nights again, let come the rainy days." The only difference was it was snow not rain we got on Thanksgiving Monday morn.

The geese have headed south and the next thing we know it will be the people who will be leaving for a warmer climate. Me, I'll just stay inside and hope the furnace will keep me warm but if the oil prices go much higher, it will mean that we will have to dress more warmly. Oh well, so be it. We can always throw another quilt on the bed and get up later in the morning and go to bed earlier at night. Just as our forefathers did. Boy, am I glad I wasn't born in the last century or I wouldn't have reached my ripe old age (now if that isn't good for a laugh, it must be too cold to laugh.)

Honestly though, it was nice to know so many former friends like to come back to Minden for some of the holidays as the Bill Procenko's did for the weekend, also Shawn Cook and many more.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Trumbull and family of Richmond Hill spent the weekend at their cottage.

Mrs. Ben Harrison had her niece, Margery Dawkins of Lindsay, visiting with her last week for several days.

Ruth and Bruce Castator of Etobicoke spent the weekend with Mrs. Alex Taylor.

The library-museum fund has increased by a fair amount from their bake sale last Saturday. Considering the weather and the fact there were three auction sales on the same day, one might say it was very successful. Don't forget this is going to be your building and the more you do to help it get built the faster you will be able to use it.

Visitors with Mrs. Vera Ward recently were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Pridham; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor and Scott, all of Barrie, also Mrs. Wayne Taylor of Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rivers and family of Downsview spent the weekend with Mrs. Maude Coulter.

Mrs. Pearl Durant visited with her sister Miss Shirley Hart and other relatives in Ottawa last week.

Mr. Ivan Clark won the snowball on the 19th number at Rotary bingo last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Beattie and family of Richmond Hill spent Thanksgiving weekend at their cottage.

They say you are only as old as you feel, so hats off to Mr. Elmer Sawyer who has gone moose hunting with the gang way up past Armstrong. I sure hope he gets one.

Minden & District Horticultural Society were very sorry that Mr. G. Brookings was unable to attend the meeting last week as guest speaker but Mrs. Pat Campbell came to the rescue and gave a very interesting talk on bulbs and their treatment for fall and spring planting. The final meeting for 1979 will take the form of a pot luck supper and this year will be at the parish hall on November 6 at 6:30 p.m.

Visitors with Mrs. Basil Hewitt over the weekend were Miss Nancy Bombako of Sault Ste. Marie, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bonspiel of Mississauga, Kim Hewitt of Oshawa and Kirk Hewitt of Toronto.

Mrs. Nell Anderson is visiting with friends in Bridgenorth.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Langdon of Dundalk and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Armstrong of Shelburne, enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Edith Welch recently.

Last week's mini card party winners were: cribbage - Cora Hewitt and Harry MacMinn; euchre - lone hand - Ada Turrall, Betty Turner and Lillian Pettit; bridge - Diane Warren.

Bradley Robinson of London spent the holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson.

Mike Bird of Peterborough and Laura Bird of Toronto spent Thanksgiving with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bird.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyne Cox of Ajax have been having a holiday in the village.

All the churches were beautifully decorated for the Thanksgiving services and all services were well attended.

Mr. Glenn Stamp of Oshawa and Glenda Stamp of Whitby spent Thanksgiving in Minden.

Weekend visitors at the Harold Alton household were Randy and Grace King, Robbie and Michelle of Lindsay, (Grace is Flo Cruickshanks' daughter), Flo's sister, Marion Bingham, her sister-in-law, Grace Cruickshanks, all of Toronto and Mrs. King of Toronto.

A recent visitor who spent a couple of days was Bert Richmond of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sims and Mrs. Ethel Everson all of Lindsay were visitors of Mrs. Ruth Rutter and Garnet last week. Later, they enjoyed a motor trip north, then around by Wilberforce where they visited Beryl and Wayne Rutter and family.

Mrs. Greta Reeds of Burnt River, visited with Martha and Russell Robertson at Ingoldsby, then took a drive to Eagle Lake to visit Sir Sam's Inn and around by West Guilford, then home.

On Sunday, September 30, the Happy Wanderers Choral Group sang at Little Britain's United Church.

Mr. Charlie Brohm of Miner's Bay had lunch with his

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sears of Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warburton of Scarborough and Miss Sandra Sears of Toronto, spent the weekend with the Milt Sears.

Prince Street residents are pleased to welcome Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hewitt as newcomers to the street. It is hoped they will like their home well enough to make their stay a long one.

Neil Hewitt of Carlton Place and Fred Hewitt of Scarborough visited with their mother recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Hughes and daughters of Mississauga spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hughes.

There are always two sides to a coin or two sides to every story. A week or so ago I gave you the side of the visitors to the washrooms which were locked at unusual times. Now I will give you the other side of the story. It seems the users or some of them do not know how to use public utilities, so set fires in the waste baskets, deface the walls, and in other ways cause trouble for those looking after these places.

One thing I am going to say is I wonder if these people use their own washrooms in this way? If they do not, why upset a whole community with stupid tricks. This poem expresses a lot about your town and my town.

If you want to live in the kind of a town,
That's the kind of town you like;
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll find elsewhere what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town.
It isn't your town - - it's you.
Your town will be what you want it to be
It isn't your town - - it's you.
Adios and take care now.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cameron have just returned from a delightful trip to Yellowstone Park. They were accompanied by Marianne and Toni Berning. Fine weather throughout their vacation made for a perfect holiday.

So many of our people are heading west. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Oram are the latest to leave. However, once in a while we welcome back a familiar face. It is nice to have Connie Holland living in the area once again. She and her little girl are in their new home near Lake Wilbermere.

Husband, Dale Holland, makes frequent trips although he is still working in northern Alberta. Another one-time resident, Elizabeth Dunbar and her husband, recently spent a week with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Deterling. Attendance at school prevented a visit from the grandchildren who are left behind in their home in

The heavy downpour of rain all day Thursday was welcomed by many as we have had a long, dry spell.

If you love butternuts, I have about 2 1/2 bushels that I have gathered. The butternuts are attracting too many red squirrels and I simply must get rid of them. Bring a basket and you are welcome to the nuts. I also had a few lovely sunflowers and this week a couple of blue jays decided it was time for a feast. I managed to rescue a few heads of sunflowers and promptly got a scolding from my feathered friends!

A capon roll was held at the Wilberforce Legion Hall on the Thanksgiving weekend and members were pleased with the good turn-out. Work is being done on the kitchen area of the Legion Hall and new steel roof has been installed. Various fund-raising projects are necessary to provide sufficient money for the operation of the Legion and the maintenance jobs. There are a couple of raffles being conducted at this time and it will be welcome news to all bingo fans that beginning Monday, October 15, there will be weekly bingo games held at the Legion Hall. Games to start at 8 p.m.

The Girl Guides were pleased to welcome Mrs. Neeharika Naidu to their Tuesday night meeting held in the basement of the library. Mrs. Naidu, who is a beautiful, charming person, has been visiting in the Harcourt area. She and her husband have come from India to spend a year in Canada while Mr. Naidu, a major in the Indian Army, is attending a college in Toronto. Neeharika wore a sari and presented a fascinating talk on Indian customs. Pictures were shown of an Indian Wedding which is said to take place before a fire and which could last for as long as seven hours. The Guides were able to question their guest.

Kathy Walsh was a model in a sari. Later everyone attended an Indian food demonstration at the Memorial Centre. Here they were joined by the Pathfinders and they witnessed the preparation of Indian dishes, one of which was called Samosa and was a triangle of dough rolled into a cone which was then filled with some mysterious concoction and fried and turned out to be a delicious morsel. The girls will long remember this interesting introduction to India and its customs.

Haliburton Highlights

by Creighton Feir

Calgary, Alberta.

Although the Thanksgiving holiday was marred with clouds, chilly winds and showers, a fair number of people turned up for the Octobertfest celebration being held in the Monmouth arena.

The morning exhibits were popular. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Binskin showed a beautiful array of polished stones and delicate jewellery. Members of the U.C.W. had gathered together many interesting odds and ends for their flea market table plus hand-made articles and baked goods. A table of fine antiques drew the attention of many. The Pathfinders and the Wilberforce Youth Group offered items of interest and edible goodies. Mrs. Coombes and her daughter presented a variety of beautiful hand-crafted articles.

A good crowd attended the evening dance where the oompah band did its part in helping to eliminate the late fall chills with their lively music.

The ACW members held their first fall meeting on Wednesday afternoon in the church basement. Mrs. Cameron, who has not been idle all summer, had gathered together many useful items to be included in the next carton bound for Toronto. There was a good attendance and many worked on a quilt for missions while others tied with bright coloured yarn. Business was discussed by president Eileen Agnew and a date was set this month for a fall rummage sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cameron have just returned from a delightful trip to Yellowstone Park. They were accompanied by Marianne and Toni Berning. Fine weather throughout their vacation made for a perfect holiday.

So many of our people are heading west. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Oram are the latest to leave. However, once in a while we welcome back a familiar face. It is nice to have Connie Holland living in the area once again. She and her little girl are in their new home near Lake Wilbermere.

Husband, Dale Holland, makes frequent trips although he is still working in northern Alberta. Another one-time resident, Elizabeth Dunbar and her husband, recently spent a week with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Deterling. Attendance at school prevented a visit from the grandchildren who are left behind in their home in

The heavy downpour of rain all day Thursday was welcomed by many as we have had a long, dry spell.

If you love butternuts, I have about 2 1/2 bushels that I have gathered. The butternuts are attracting too many red squirrels and I simply must get rid of them. Bring a basket and you are welcome to the nuts. I also had a few lovely sunflowers and this week a couple of blue jays decided it was time for a feast. I managed to rescue a few heads of sunflowers and promptly got a scolding from my feathered friends!

Highlights

they lined up for the evening.

Just a reminder here that the Evangelical Fellowship annual banquet will be held on Tuesday, October 23 at 6:30 p.m. at the Haliburton Legion Hall. Dixie Dean will be the guest speaker.

A discussion took place at a recent meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton regarding the subject of an outdoor rink that would be located at either the Rotary Beach or at the Fairgrounds. After listening to the pros and cons of an outdoor rink it was decided to bring it up for further discussion at a later meeting.

An office manager was asking a girl applicant if she had any unusual talents. She said she had won several prizes in crossword-puzzle and slogan-writing contests. "Sounds good," the manager told her, "but we want somebody who will be smart during office hours." "Oh," said the girl, "this was during office hours."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Belford from Tottenham and their daughter Miss Joan Belford from Winnipeg and Mr. and Mrs. Grafton Belford from Caledon East, were guests of Elwin and Mary Robertson on Tuesday. They travelled over to see the beauty of the Haliburton Highlands in the autumn.

Mr. Marshall Miller was a visitor to Haliburton over the holiday weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harding and family spent the Thanksgiving weekend at their cottage on Haliburton Lake.

Mr. Bill Picard, who is attending George Brown College, spent the weekend at his home here.

Over 500 people were present at the high school in Haliburton on Sunday evening for the final evening of the Barry Moore Crusade.

Dr. Carman Price of Pickering will be the guest speaker when the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship (Haliburton Hyland Chapter) hold their monthly dinner meeting on Friday, October 21, 1979 at 7:00 p.m. at the Canadian Legion Hall at Haliburton.

Dr. Carman Price is a medical doctor who comes from Newfoundland and is now practising in Ontario. He is the founder of Christian Life Health Center at Pickering. The Center is a large home that has been renovated and is a series of offices bringing together all professions represented by Christians.

Dr. Price was in a Pentecostal Church as a young boy but pursued the goal of money and became extremely successful. Then his son gave him a copy of the book, "Sure Cure", a book written by F.G.B.M.F. with testimonies of Christian doctors. Dr. Price experienced a change of heart and turned back to things of God. Money never satisfied him.

Dr. Price is a member of the F.G.B.M.F. Chapter at Ajax. Come and hear the exciting testimony of a doctor who prays for patients in his office before giving them medical attention.

The Banks family reunion was truly a Thanksgiving weekend. Among those joining Don and Jackie were their children, Bob, Nancy and Craig Banks on their way to Courtney, B.C., Terry and Lynda Banks from Toronto, Jack Banks from Oshawa, Dave Banks from Toronto and Joe Banks from Haliburton. Also joining in the fun were Shirley and Jules Cartier, Huette Leclerc and Cliff Mannard, Pierre Del'Etoile and Sylvie Jacques, all from Montreal, Diane Stevens from Buffalo, N.Y., Lynn Hodgson and Diane Closs from Carnarvon.

Senior League

by Linda English

Monday was the beginning of another interesting week at Hyland Crest. We began in the morning with the fun and fitness program. Everyone is really getting to know the new exercise songs and are really enjoying them. A game of roll the ball and kick the ball added to the fun.

In the afternoon, the ladies went downstairs to work on their crafts. We are very pleased indeed, to have Mrs. Lil Rawlins back with us as a volunteer.

It was a gorgeous sunny day on Monday and we decided to take advantage of it. The nursing staff very kindly helped the bed-care residents prepare for an outing on the bus. Doris drove the bus to Pikes Peak overlooking Minden. The colour was at its peak and the view was beautiful. We went then to the Dixie Lee Chicken and treated the residents to a delicious ice cream cone. After we finished the ice cream, we continued our sight-seeing journey down the Dutch Line Road. The nursing staff came along on the trip to assist, and made it possible for the bed-care residents to have a very enjoyable afternoon.

Residents attended a lovely service in the chapel with Rev. John Smith. Ken Carter from the Barry Moore Crusade was our very special guest. Mr. Carter, who is originally from Memphis, Tennessee, has a fantastic voice. He sang three very inspiring hymns for us during the service. We would like to thank Mr. Carter for taking time to be with us for chapel. After lunch, it was movie time in the auditorium. We viewed two very informative films. The first called, A Williamsburg Sampler, gave us a look at Williamsburg, England in the 1700's. In the past three hundred years, the city has not changed a great deal. We saw how basket and cloth weaving are still done the original way. The city is filled with little country gardens and gardening is still their chief industry.

Bermuda, the Island Nobody Wanted, showed us how Bermuda became a popular resort area. Labermuda discovered the island in the beginning, and because there were so many shipwrecks then he left pigs there to multiply to feed the survivors. A lighthouse was erected later on, and because of the beauty of the beaches, and the quiet surroundings, many people began to go there to spend their holidays. Eventually Mark Twain went there to live and consequently the island grew to be a popular resort area. A verse written by Mark Twain describes the beauty of Bermuda very well and I quote: "I think I could live here forever. You can go to heaven if you want to. I would rather stay here."

Wednesday, we were pleased to welcome the residents of the Pines in Bracebridge for a visit. They went on a grand tour of Hyland Crest, and said they were very impressed. They stayed for tea and doughnuts served in the auditorium. While we were having our tea, we sang a few old favourite songs. Everyone had a very enjoyable afternoon visiting, and we were officially invited to go to Bracebridge to visit them in the near future. Hyland Crest residents have met with the Pines residents on several occasions, and are getting to know each other. We are certainly looking forward to visiting with them at their home.

Thursday morning was fun and fitness time again and the winner at darts was Wilbert Sisson. We always have a good time keeping our bodies and minds active at fun and fitness.

The Anglican Church Women from Kinmount made our Thursday tea party a smashing success. They brought with them a lovely assortment of sandwiches and cookies, also we gathered around the piano and sang some old favourite songs. In the evening the Kinsmen came to call our bingo numbers for us.

Friday, we were thrilled to have Lil Rawlins with us again for the day. Lil is coming in as a volunteer to help in any way she can. Grace Cobourn was in and led us in our sing song. A good time was had by all who attended.

So long until next week.

ough on Saturday.

Mrs. John Finlay was pleasantly surprised with a baby shower given by her friends last Tuesday evening. We hear it was a big success. Sorry we could not attend due to a bout with a bad cold. Shirley thanked all those present and lunch was served.

Recycle it!

by Jane Selbie

Leftover cuttings from broadloom are really very useful.

A small remnant in front of the sink makes a good fatigue mat. Upside down with a foam back it can double for kneeling pad when washing the floor.

Other cuttings make ideal mats in the car or as a trunk liner. If you don't permanently attach it, it can be easily removed to vacuum or shake. Rubber cement around the edges prevents fraying.

You can also make an eye-appealing decorator rug. Save old remnants and get your friends to pass on theirs. Carpet samples can be bought from outlets if you need extra shades. Cut the shapes and arrange them on heavy burlap, carpet backing or canvas. Use a heavy duty glue on the carpet piece all around the edge. Push down to keep the edges flat. The pile will join the edges together hiding the joins. Indoor outdoor rugging won't be very successful I'm afraid. Make your own designs or innovate others from Moroccan, Indian or Navaho rugs.

1. Air pushes!

You can do this experiment.

Equipment: (1) glass; (2) water; (3) piece of thin cardboard.

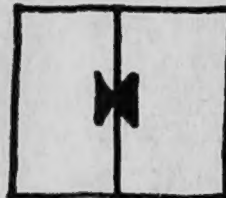

Method: (1) Fill glass with water. (2) Cover the glass with cardboard. Hold Cardboard in place and quickly turn glass upside down.

(3) Now let the cardboard stay on its own. Do this over the sink in case your seal is not perfect. (4) You can do it sideways. Also hold the glass upright and try to blow the cardboard off.

(5) The air pushing up against the cardboard keeps the water in.

2. What's this?

3. Riddle! What did the big chimney say to the little chimney?

Answers: 2. Man with his bow tie stuck in the elevator doors; 3. You're too young to smoke.

32. IN MEMORIAM

EMMERSON - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Edith Emmerson, who passed away, October 7, 1978.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear mother and grandmother,
That we do not think of you.

Lovingly remembered by Tom, Eleanor, Joanne and Todd. 32-P-10

JOHNSTON - In memory of our two dear sons, Myles Eliwood who was killed October 11, 1968, and Alvin Carl, who died January 16, 1964.

No morning dawns, no night returns
But that I think of you
Those left behind are very precious
But none replaces you.
Many a silent tear is shed
When I am all alone;
The ones I loved so very much
The ones I called my own.
The tears in my eyes I can wipe away
The ache in my heart will always stay.

Sadly missed by mom, dad, sister and brothers. 32-P-10

STAMP - In loving memory of my dear son, Leon, who was killed in a car accident on October 13, 1973.

Peaceful be thy sleep, dear son
It is sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you dearly
In death we do the same.
Oft we think of you, dear son
And our hearts are sad with pain,
Oh, this would be a Heaven
Could we hear your voice again.
You are gone but not forgotten
Never shall your memory fade
Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger
Around the grave where you are laid.

Sadly missed and always be remembered by mother, Hazel, Jack, Kathy, Debbie and Irvine. 23-P-10

STAMP - In loving memory of our dear mother, Ethel Louise who passed away October 12, 1963.

Yes, she sleeps but not forever,
In a lone and silent grave
Blessed promise she shall awaken,
Jesus died the lost to save.
In the dawning of the morning
When the troubled night is o'er
All the buds in beauty blooming
Will rejoice, to see her more.

Sadly missed and always remembered by daughter, Hazel, son-in-law, Jack, grandchildren, Kathy and Debbie. 32-P-10

Trent/Severn News

On October 1, the storage remaining in the reservoirs was 45 percent. Cooler, wet weather has slowed down evaporation losses, but has not caused inflows to increase yet. Many dams are already set with their "winter logs" (a specific number of logs which are left in each dam over the winter).

Lakes with a control dam which still hold more than their winter logs will be lowered as quickly as possible after Thanksgiving.

At this time of year, the orderly drawdown of lakes is disrupted by various construction projects, such as dam construction and bridge repairs, and the need to lower lakes to their winter levels as quickly as possible. Twelve Mile and Horseshoe Lake will be raised, as usual, to about 80 percent of their maximum storage to store water which is used by the hydro-electric plant at Minden to increase generation over the winter.

The Kawartha Lakes will be allowed to drop to the middle of their navigation range. This provides some storage for fall rains, reducing the number and magnitude of flow adjustments.

maximum and will also pay one third of labour costs up to $150. Home owners must submit labour receipts to claim the labour subsidy.

Interested individuals can obtain application kits by writing to: The Canadian Home Insulation Program, P.O. Box 1270, Station 1, Toronto, Ontario, M6B 4A4 or by telephoning 1-800-268-1818 free of charge. The switchboard will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays and will attempt to answer all questions.

Individuals who would like further information about the program also can contact Scott's constituency office at 42 Victoria Ave. N. Lindsay.

From the Chamber

said he has been impressed with the very friendly reception he has encountered from those he has met since moving to our community and is looking forward to serving all of you.

Sunny Rock Lodge, at the foot of Canning Lake has not been operated as a resort for the last few years pending a sale. The property has now been sold to a Mr. Barrie Shaw from Newmarket and he is enthusiastically making plans to breathe new life into this picturesque old establishment. Barrie's background involves teaching the art of printing to staff at the Toronto Star and he has taken a leave of absence to get things started. Intentions are to operate the resort on a year-round basis. Barrie and the family are avid hockey enthusiasts and he has already agreed to help out in the Minden Minor Hockey organization.

We sincerely hope that you will make Barrie and Lorna along with George Schmid, welcome to our business community.

Sir Sandford Workshop

That workshop we told you about is next Wednesday and we still have time to mark you name down if you are attending. You may recall that the keynote speaker will tell us all about the multi-million dollar park being created at Maple and its possible impact on our region. Phone the Chamber office at 286-1760 for full details and to register. Do it today - see you there.
